NEW ZEALAND PREMIER'S RIOTERS TO DESTROY

Budget Vote In Commons Expected On Tuesday

Finance Debate To Be Shortest Staged For Number of Years

Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King and Premier Bennett Scheduled to Speak at Beginning of Next Week

ESTIMATES BEFORE THE HOUSE TO-DAY

Ottawa, April 15.—Division bells for the vote on the budget are expected to ring in the Commons next Tuesday. It will be one of the shortest debates in some years, having opened only last Monday. The budget was presented in the House by Hon. E. N. Rhodes, Finance Minister, April 6.

Interest in the debate has fallen to a low ebb and may not be revived until Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King and Premier Bennett speak early next week.

The votes will be taken on the U.F.A. sub-amendment moved by Robert Gair, the Liberal amendment moved by Hon. J. L. Ralston, and the main budget motion moved by Hon. E. N. Rhodes.

The House switched to estimates this afternoon.

POLICY OF EXCLUSION

Taking part in the budget debate yesterday evening, Hon. J. C. Elliott, Liberal member for West Middlesex, Ont., and former Minister of Public Works, criticized the tariff policy of the Bennett Government, laying at its door many of the commercial problems now facing the country. It was a policy of exclusion, he said, working to the detriment of the country as a whole, and particularly the farmers.

He said the budget was "most black and gloomy." Farmers to-day would be glad to get the prices they were receiving at the time of the last election, when Conservatives were criticizing the prices received.

SEES STOCK PANIC DANGER

President of New York Exchange Tells U.S. Senators Institution May Close

Says That May Happen If Federal Transfer Tax Imposed

Associated Press

Washington, April 15.—Possible closing of the New York Stock Exchange with danger of a "panic" was pictured before the United States Senate finance committee to-day by Richard Whitney, if the proposed stock transfer tax should be imposed.

The president of the New York Stock Exchange said the tax would reduce security transactions almost to the vanishing point.

Protesting it, he said the effect not only would be felt on the exchange, but would "devastatingly diminish" the business done in the country. This decrease, he added, would more than halve the $75,000,000 of revenue the House of Representatives estimates the tax would bring.

He appeared after Senator Tydings Democratic had assailed the tax on oil imports carried in the bill.

The exchange president belittled the proposed tax on bond trading as vigorously as that on stocks.

MONTREAL REPORT

Senator Reid, Republican, said he had heard a rumor that since the house action on the tax, a "charity" had been taken out in Montreal for an international stock trading association and he asked Mr. Whitney about it.

Mr. Whitney said he knew nothing definite, but had heard a rumor that preparations were being made in Canada to "broaden their facilities to take the American business in case this tax goes through."

TWO WINNIPEG BOYS MISSING

Police Search For School Lads; Neither Believed Held By Abductors

Officers Also Hunt For Three Thugs Who Held Another Boy For Time

Canadian Press

Winnipeg, April 15.—Two schoolboys were missing from Winnipeg homes to-day and police were making a wide-spread search for them, as well as for three men who Wednesday evening abducted a boy and held him for a short time before releasing him. The authorities discount the possibility the missing lads were abducted.

Albert Cameron, fourteen, left his home last midnight, and up to the middle of this afternoon had not been seen. His mother was of the opinion he had run away.

Twelve-year-old George Alexander left for school yesterday morning, but did not arrive at his classroom. His parents, who came here from Montreal in January, said they feared George might have drowned.

Police this afternoon were continuing their search for three men who tried to force Sam Ratcho, Jr., son of a bakery proprietor, to reveal the combination of his father's office safe Wednesday evening. One of the three men was seen leaving the city in several miles outside the city, where Sam was beaten about the head when he said he did not know the safe combination. He was released.

IRISH POETRY IS REVIEWED

Ira Dilworth Tells Authors' Meeting of Its History and Beauties

"The Irish Renaissance" was the subject of an intensely interesting address given by Ira Dilworth before the Victoria and Islands branch of the Canadian Authors' Association yesterday evening, the speaker in the brief compass of an hour fairly sleeping the souls of his audience in the intense, illustrative, fascinating, wistful, and spiritual beauty of the poetry of the Celtic race.

"Poetry," said the speaker, "is the most important thing in the world, and that it may be found everywhere by those who commune with Nature, and who see with the Celtic spirit through the eyes of a child the lovely things that are in the world, was instanced in his reference to the poetry of Audry Alexander Brown who has found Dryads in Nanaimo. This young poet had rediscovered the sylvan characters of Greek mythology, which the Irish have never lost."

Mr. Dilworth dealt exhaustively with the love of poetry, tales and music which had made possible the preservation of the ideals of the Manx, the Gael, and the Irish peoples, and in terrible, testing, trying times illustrated the great panacea and the great outlet poetry had been and is, to-day, for the sorrows and joys of the human heart. Graphically illustrating and delightfully interpreting the address were beautiful selections from the poetry of "A. E." George Russell; of Padraic Colum's "Cradle Song" and "Old Woman of the Road" from Moira O'Neill's "Grace for Light" and "Corrymeela" from Sigerson. "The Comforter," from W. B. Yeats, "Song of Wandering Aengus," "Down by the Sally Gardens," and others.

A resume was given of the history of the National Theatre and the modern Abbey Theatre, where whole sections of the life of the common people are offered as studies in the play presented, and which contain the realities of tragedy and comedy not to be heard or seen in other settings, with anything like the degree of dramatic adherence to nature.

The vote of thanks to Mr. Dilworth was proposed by the chairman, Donald A. Fraser, and spoken to by Rev. Brother Lawless, principal of St. Louis College, whose pleasure in so doing was greatly enhanced through his intimacy with some of the poets mentioned, and his familiarity with many of the settings in Ireland.

Preceding the address Mrs. Marion Isabel Angus read a helpful paper, "A Survey of the Literary Markets for 1932," and Mr. Fraser spoke briefly upon the late Marjorie Pickens, a founder of the branch, in memory of whom he read her delightful poem, "Oh Keep the World Forever at the Dawn."

The meeting went on record in commendation of the first Drama Festival held last week in the Crystal Garden Theatre, and in expressing the hope that it might become an annual feature of the artistic life of the city. The secretary, Mrs. Angus, was instructed to write Major L. Bullock-Webster, a

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

BY SISTER MARY

Grapefruit is so good and plentiful this year that it behooves every homemaker to make the most of it. All citrus fruits are rich in vitamins B and C and grapefruit also has a tonic effect on the appetite.

In preparing grapefruit for table use, it is a good plan to keep in mind certain precautions. There is a bitter oil in the skin and pith of this citrus fruit that changes the flavor of the pulp unless precautions are taken to avoid contact with it.

The oil in the skin or rind is quite apparent and therefore easily guarded against, but few cooks realize that the thin membranes which surround each section of pulp secrete this same bitter substance which is released whenever they are cut.

Consequently, two steps usually taken in the preparation of halved grapefruit are better left undone—removing the core and cutting the pulp from the rind. Both these steps harm the flavor of the fruit by freeing the bitterness of the pith and allowing it to permeate the pulp. A strong sharp-edged teaspoon can be used to loosen the fruit enough so that it can be scooped out easily and eaten.

FLAVOR QUICK TO VANISH

The flavor of all citrus fruits deteriorates if the cut fruit is allowed to stand any length of time or is exposed to the air before using. The custom of preparing the breakfast grapefruit the night before may save time in the morning, but the fine flavor of the fruit is sacrificed.

When chilled fruit is wanted, either chill the fruit thoroughly before cutting or serve on a bed of crushed ice. The edible fruit should never be covered with ice. The delicate flavor of all fruits is dulled by this practice.

The amount of sugar used over grapefruit is of course a matter of personal taste, but some very particular persons use a dash of salt and no sugar at all. Many diet specialists deplore the use of sugar on grapefruit on the grounds that the sugar counteracts the good of the organic acids of the fruit. Try using sugar very sparingly if it must be used and take care that none is sprinkled on the pith of the core and the pith of the rind.

When grapefruit is wanted for salad it is best prepared in the following way: Wash fruit well before cutting. Cut it in halves, lengthwise. Then with a sharp knife cut the membrane from the pulp and pull each section from the rind. This gives whole sections of juicy pulp free from membrane.

There are numerous delicious salads combining grapefruit with other materials. Crisp shredded cabbage, sliced Spanish onions, diced celery, shredded green pepper, white grapes skinned and seeded, shredded Chinese cabbage, apricots and pineapple combine exceedingly well with the tang of grapefruit.

TO-MORROW'S MEAT

Breakfast: Steamed rhubarb, crisp broiled bacon, cornmeal waffles, syrup, milk, coffee.

Luncheon: Creamed beef and vegetables on toast, salad of grapefruit and celery, raisin muffins, milk, tea.

Dinner: Broiled salmon steaks, lettuce potatoes, creamed potatoes, creamed cauliflower, stuffed tomato salad, grapefruit and prune pie, milk, coffee.

U.S. STEEL HEAD WALL ST. ENIGMA

Myron Taylor Is Known As the "Man Nobody Knows" and Runs From Publicity

He Can Wear Social Pumps As Well As Seven-league Boots of Industry

Behind the desk where the late Judge Elbert H. Gary presided over the affairs of the United States Steel Corporation now sits an enigma to Wall Street.

He is Myron C. Taylor, "the man nobody known," and newly elected chairman of the board of the steel company.

MYRON C. TAYLOR

Paradoxically, there is no mystery to the character of this man if one trusts his eyes. They are keen and penetrating, hinting a formidable sternness to which his mouth, set like a steel trap, adds much.

Tall in stature, strongly built and athletic looking, this new steel czar gives the appearance of a football star yet he never played a game in his life.

To his friends, Taylor also is no mystery. To the he is a polished gentleman and somewhat of a social lion. This social standing began on the lower rung of the ladder and had much to do with the decision of J. Pierpont Morgan to select Taylor as the man who could wear the social pumps as well as the seven-league business boots of Judge Gary.

SHUNS PUBLICITY

As an entertainer, Taylor is without equal. His town home, his country estate, located on the site of the home of a colonial ancestor, and his villa in Florence, Italy, are always the scenes of gatherings for leaders in the Park Avenue register.

But to business and the world in general, Taylor is noted for his aloofness. This characteristic has caused him to be dubbed another "mystery man" of Wall Street. Yet his "mystery" is merely his desire to avoid personal publicity.

The loss of $300,000 worth of gems would cause any man to summon police aid, but Taylor, when his wife's jewelry was stolen, demurred when it came to calling New York police because he shunned publicity.

IS GOOD DRESSER

Any interviewer that is lucky enough to get an audience is faced with an ordeal. Those interviews are brief and replies to questions are laconic and terse. He thinks quickly and works fast and he sits behind a desk that is free from cluttered correspondence.

Taylor belongs to the most exclusive clubs of New York. He is fond of boating, swimming and golf—yet breaking par is still his ambition. He is a patron of art and music.

He dresses with sartorial correctness. Even a director's meeting requires a certain attire. And this has earned him a reputation for being among the best-dressed of New York men.

But there must be more than this to the man that was able to emerge alone from the steel triumvirate of J. Pierpont Morgan, James A. Farrell and Taylor. To-day, he rules where three formerly ruled.

CORNELL GRADUATE

Born of wealthy parents in 1874 in Lyons, N.Y., and descendant of colonial stock, Taylor was enriched not only with the wealth of his ancestors, but also with the mental and physical sturdiness of the Massachusetts pioneer.

He was graduated in 1894 from the law school of Cornell University, to which institution he has given $1,500,000 for a new law school building.

PILES GO QUICK

Taylor belongs to the most exclusive clubs of New York. He is fond of boating, swimming and golf—yet breaking par is still his ambition. He is a patron of art and music.

Even a director's meeting requires a certain attire. And this has earned him a reputation for being among the best-dressed of New York men.

Thousands of sufferers from itching, bleeding or protruding piles have learned that quick and permanent relief can only be accomplished with an internal medicine. Neither salt nor cutting remove the cause.

But there must be more than this to the man that was able to emerge alone from the steel triumvirate of J. Pierpont Morgan, James A. Farrell and Taylor. To-day, he rules where three formerly ruled.

He dresses with sartorial correctness. Even a director's meeting requires a certain attire. And this has earned him a reputation for being among the best-dressed of New York men.

Bad circulation of the blood in the lower bowel causes piles. The veins are flabby, the bowel walls weak—the parts almost dead. To end Pile an internal medicine must be used to stimulate the circulation, heal and restore the affected parts.

But to business and the world in general, Taylor is noted for his aloofness. This characteristic has caused him to be dubbed another "mystery man" of Wall Street. Yet his "mystery" is merely his desire to avoid personal publicity.

He was graduated in 1894 from the law school of Cornell University, to which institution he has given $1,500,000 for a new law school building.

Dr. J. S. Leonhardt was the first to discover a real internal Pile remedy. He called his prescription HEM-ROID and prescribed it for 1,000 patients with the marvelous record of success in 980 cases, and then decided every Pile sufferer should be able to get HEM-ROID tablets from their own druggist with a rigid money back guarantee.

Following his graduation, Taylor moved to New York where he practiced

Dr. Leonhardt's HEM-ROID has a almost unbelievable record of success in this city. So why waste time on external treatments or worry about an operation when McFarlane's Vancouver Drug Store invites every Pile sufferer to try HEM-ROID with guarantee of money-back if it does not end their Piles, no matter how stubborn the case? ASKS MILITIA VOTE BE CUT

M. Rheame Tells Commons
Canada Should Save Money on Training

Canadian Press
Ottawa, April 15.—The item in the budget of $1,837,400 for the non-permanent military force of Canada was unnecessary, Martial Rheame, Liberal, St. John's-Berkeley, Que., told the Commons yesterday afternoon. The country should not waste the money, he said.

Of the permanent militia, Mr. Rheame said the government took the men out in the morning for exercise to develop an appetite and then fed them at the country's expense. Canada did not need military colleges and training schools. The money should be converted to the uses of agricultural colleges since the country had more need for good farmers than soldiers.

Mr. Rheame was in favor of the development of sports and the participation therein by all who were able, but he advocated placing a 10 per cent tax on all sporting articles such as golf clubs, tennis racquets, golf shoes, etc. A luxury tax which would include women's evening dresses also was recommended.

FARM PROPOSAL

A back-to-the-land policy was proposed by C. H. Dickie, Conservative, Vancouver. Unemployed men of the cities could be settled on farms, where they would be producers and contributors to national welfare, he said.

Col. H. A. Mullins, Conservative, Marquette, Man., voiced a plea for protection of the livestock industry.

E. F. Willis, Conservative, Souris, Man., gave the House a review of the operations of drought relief on the prairies, with particular reference to Manitoba. There had been various charges the farmers of Manitoba had been given unequal treatment as compared with those of Saskatchewan and Alberta, he said, and he read from a bulky file of correspondence to show what the Dominion Government had done in the way of providing assistance for the needy agriculturists of the plains.

It is given by Mr. and Mrs. John M. Imrie in order that a student may have the opportunity to study international political and economic affairs at first hand. The student selected has one more year to study before graduation in law. He is western vice-president of the Canadian Federation of University Students.

SENATOR McRAE URGES WAR ON BELGIAN RADIUM TRUST

Development of Great Bear Lake Pitchblende Ores By the State Is Proposed

WOULD SMASH PRICE
OF $100,000 AN OUNCE

He Aims at Generous Supply
at Moderate Cost For Cancer-suffering Humanity

Canadian Press
Ottawa, April 15.—To consider the production of radium from pitchblende in the Great Bear Lake as a mining industry employing any large number of men was an "absurdity," this declaration was made in the Senate by General A. D. McRae, Vancouver. After speaking of the recent discoveries in the Great Bear Lake section, and the richness in supply of these high grade pitchblende, the mother ore from which radium is obtained, Senator McRae declared:

"I give these figures to show the absurdity of considering the production of radium from our pitchblende as a mining industry. Pitchblende is a medicinal ore, required chiefly for medicinal purposes. Not by the great stretch of the imagination can it be pictured as an industry which will employ any considerable number of men, or of great commercial value to the country."

PHENOMENAL SILVER DEPOSITS

"The silver deposits in this district are phenomenal. As pitchblende is generally associated with silver ore it is possible that when mining is well under way moon pitchblende will be produced in connection with the mining of silver than the world then requires and consequently our government may some day have to consider provision for conservation of surplus pitchblende. He would be a very foolish prospector who would now go into the Great Bear Lake district in search of more pitchblende."

General McRae was addressing a crowded chamber in support of his resolution urging government control of the production and distribution of all radium procured from Canadian ores. Appointment of a Canadian radium commission to investigate and recommend at the next session of Parliament the best methods of such control—"to give suffering humanity the great boon of an ample supply of radium at a moderate cost"—was advocated by the British Columbia senator.

BELGIANS HOLD EXCESSIVE PRICE
Present control of radium by the "Belgian Trust" at an "excessive price" produced a scarcity of radium, General McRae stated, while more deaths were caused by cancer than through any other disease. He considered that the government might well consider reserving all pitchblende from further sale, and this would not interfere in the least with the mineral development of the Northwest Territories.

"As to claims already staked," asserted Senator McRae, "it is agreed the holders should be generously treated. However, as the government through its radium commission must carry on the necessary education and regulate the distribution of radium so as to confine it to qualified users, it will probably be found that the government will either carry on the manufacture under the direction of the departments of science, or very efficiently staffed—or through the agency of some controlled private corporation, or perhaps under the direction of a permanent Canadian radium commission."

CONFESION FOR EARLY STAKERS

"In this event the arbitrary price at the mines, which, for my immediate calculations, I have adopted as $100 a ton—five times the gold recovered per ton by the Lake Shore Mines, one of the greatest gold mines in the world—should prove an equitable if not too generous an allowance to the people who have already staked their claims. Of course, this is vastly different from the values now being talked. There is twenty tons of this ore in Ottawa. It will probably produce if manufactured two grams of radium worth $100,000, that is the Belgian wholesale price of two grams of manufactured radium. Sure we are not going to start in on this basis in Canada. It is unthinkable that we should allow the pitchblende deposits of the Great Bear Lake to be developed on a basis which will enable Canadians to join with the Belgians as exploiters of suffering humanity."

After considerable investigation, General McRae said, he was very much impressed with the seriousness of the present situation in regard to the shortage of radium.

"A shortage which is costing the lives of tens of thousands of cancer victims annually is a situation of the most serious nature. It is a situation of the opportunity which, it would appear from government reports, 'Canada has to step in and correct this world-wide situation and give to suffering humanity this great boon—an ample supply of radium at a moderate price.'"

Canada should produce radium from Canadian ore at less than $10,000 per gram, General McRae declared as he appealed for support of his proposal.

The senator surveyed cancer conditions in various countries of the world, during his remarks, and stressed the efficiency of radium for "the service and benefit of mankind."

POSTAL HOURS OF WORK DISCUSSED

Ottawa, April 15.—In the Commons yesterday afternoon, J. S. Woodsworth, Labor, Winnipeg, North Centre, said he had received communication from Winnipeg postal workers protesting against a circular said to have been issued by the Post Office Department stating there would be an increase in the hours of labor and elimination of overtime pay. Mr. Woodsworth wanted to know if the Postmaster-General (Mr. Saue) would consider the whole matter, as he thought the proposal for an extension of hours was a "violation of previous agreements."

Premier Bennett said he would bring the subject to the attention of Mr. Saue, who, unfortunately, was not able to be in his seat during the afternoon. He, too, the Prime Minister added, had received a similar communication.

SUPPLY BILL SIGNED

Ottawa, April 15.—The interim supply bill of $35,345,125 was signed yesterday by Chief Justice P. A. Anglin, deputy to the Governor-General. The bill was passed to provide for payment of salaries in the inside civil service due to-day.

URGES SALE OF C.N.R. SYSTEM

Dr. F. H. Pickel, Quebec Conservative, States His Views to Commons

Canadian Press
Ottawa, April 15.—Saying the Canadian National Railway system was bankrupt and its disposal by the Dominion would relieve the treasury of a steady drain, Dr. F. H. Pickel, Conservative, Quebec-Mississippi, sharing in the budget debate yesterday afternoon in the Commons, gave it as his opinion the system "should go into the hands of a receiver and be disposed of."

"I do not understand," said the Quebec Conservative, "why the people of Canada persist in trying to make themselves believe this is a solvent enterprise. It is no compliment to the people to try to bolster up that railway."

He urged negotiations should be opened by the government for the sale of the road, and although he held no brief for the Canadian Pacific, he knew "of no other company or combination of people to whom he could give the National Railway." If the road were sold, the Dominion treasury "would be spared that deficit of $1,250,000 that every week we are throwing into 'the mismanaged railway.'"

FREIGHT RATES

An inquiry should be made by the government into the prices charged eastern cattle men for prairie grain, Dr. Pickel declared. Eastern farmers were charged all rail rates when they bought western grain and 90 per cent of the grain came to Montreal by water. He quoted rates to show the big difference this made in the cost of feed to the farmers and the government should find out who got that difference in the water-borne grain, he said. If the farmers got the water rates it would help them very much, and it would also assist the grain growers.

STATE HOOVER SIDE GAINING

Observers in U.S. Study Effect of Widening Split in Democratic Party

By Ken Clark, Canadian Press Staff Writer.

Washington, April 15.—President Hoover's chances of re-election in November are claimed to have materially improved with the appearance to-day of a widening split in the Democratic Party.

No matter what Democratic interpretation may be placed on denunciation of the leading Democratic candidate, Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt, by Alfred E. Smith Wednesday evening—and there are several schools of thought—it is clear from the comment of leaders and the press Mr. Roosevelt's chances are diminished.

Essentially what the redoubtable Al. with some return of the personal fire and magnetism displayed in 1928, did was to accuse Mr. Roosevelt of being a demagogue, setting class against class. He said he would take off his "coat and vest" to defeat him.

Positively he proposed a moratorium on war debts and a reduction of tariff. In short he drove a wedge into the Democrats by setting forth in round periods the programme of Democratic big business, and incidentally Republican big business.

By pointing out Mr. Roosevelt's speech of several days ago was general harangue and appeal to the disgruntled vote, he took from the governor considerable support in New York and the east.

On the other hand, the arithmetical odds are still heavily with Mr. Roosevelt for the nomination. If he can hold the south and get the east he can get the job. Mr. Smith's proposal for a twenty-year war debt moratorium laid him open to effective attack by Roosevelt leaders throughout the country.

The consensus in Washington to-day is that a party divided on economic policy and into which now enters the religious issue, can not hope to defeat the vigorous solidarity of the Republicans, and that the man presently in the White House.

URGE LASHES FOR YOUNG OFFENDERS

Canadian Press
Vancouver, April 15.—A move to have courts sentence young criminals to short prison sentences with lashes in preference to long terms in jail is being sponsored by the Vancouver Police Commission.

The commissioners have forwarded their proposal to Attorney-General Pooley and, it was intimated, if he does not approve their suggestion they will present it to the Federal Minister of Justice.

The commission's first step in the psychology of punishment was taken yesterday afternoon at the suggestion of Commissioner W. C. Atherton, who believes young prisoners, facing long sentences in jail, rapidly become "sour," and that it would be more beneficial to them and to society to impose shorter terms, but to impress it with the application of the lash.

In this proposal he was supported by Police Chief C. E. Edgett, a former penitentiary warden.

Mayor Louis D. Taylor, chairman, balked at the suggestion of the lashing, and proposed that "padding" would be sufficient.

POLICE MERGER PLAN APPROVED

Canadian Press
Vancouver, April 15.—Proposed formation of a metropolitan police force for the lower mainland was approved by the Vancouver Police Commission yesterday afternoon. Mayor Louis D.

Taylor, chairman, stated he expected soon to convene a meeting of representatives of all municipalities involved to discuss the scheme.

The subject was introduced by Commissioner Thomas Reid, who cited the recent pursuit of William Bagley, jail-breaking safecracker, who allegedly shot Constable David Maxwell of Burnaby, as an instance when a metropolitan force would have been of immense value.

BUTTER EXPORT BOUNTY PLANNED

Dublin, April 15.—The Irish Free State government has decided to provide a bounty for the export of butter. A bill will be introduced in the Dail here next Wednesday providing for subsidy of 4 cents a pound, amounting to half the tariff levy on butter, and the money will be provided for a levy on total butter production. It is unofficially stated butter prices are likely to touch a low-level on the British market this season and the Irish Free State farmers consequently will need assistance.

NO IRISH UNION PLAN DRAFTED

London, April 15.—Rt. Hon. J. H. Thomas, Secretary for Dominions, put an official quietus to-day on any notion the government might be hinting at a move toward a united Ireland in its correspondence with President de Valera of the Irish Free State. Speaking in the Commons, Mr. Thomas said he had assured Viscount Craigavon, Premier of Northern Ireland, that the government did not contemplate "that any such development could take place without the consent of Northern Ireland."

SOUTH AFRICAN BUDGET VOTED

Capetown, S.A., April 15.—By a vote of seventy-six to sixty-three, the House of Assembly yesterday rejected the motion of General Jan Smuts, Opposition leader, to refuse to vote supply. The House then approved the budget of the Hertzog government.

Gen. Smuts, in introducing his motion, had attacked the budget as making unnecessary reductions in expenditure for the sake of maintaining the gold standard. He also proposed an "opposition" budget based on tying South African currency to the pound sterling, which, he declared, would give great stimulus to mining and agriculture.

The budget, introduced March 23, reported a deficit of $1,200,000 (gold) for the current financial year, and an accumulated budget deficit of $2,100,000. The income tax was increased and a surtax of 7½ per cent was imposed on all imports except fertilizers and agricultural implements.

WOULD INCREASE DAIRY DEBATES

Ottawa, April 15.—Division of the agriculture committee of the Commons into two sections, one to deal with wheat and beef and the other with dairying, was urged on the House yesterday.

Declaring he had been a member of this committee since 1930 and that the great bulk of its time had been consumed with discussions of wheat, Dr. F. H. Pickel, Conservative, Bromes-Missisquoi, Que., demanded more consideration of dairy problems. He was not a prairie member and he did not pretend to know anything about wheat, up to a bin of grain and pick out Garnet or Marquis or Reward just because of the persistence with which these had been discussed in committee. It was hard for men interested in dairying to get in a word during committee sittings.

GOOD BUSINESS

MORE THAN 2,800 TAXPAYERS OF Victoria voted in favor of the loan by-law yesterday and averted what would have been something approaching an economic calamity for this city. In addition to the three-fifths majority required to pass the measure there was a surplus of 172 votes.

It is putting it mildly to say that the majority of the taxpayers who turned out to vote did a good stroke of business for themselves and also for the 1,589 who apparently did not seem to be disturbed by the prospect of a forty per cent increase in their tax bills. The city is to be congratulated on the result and the community as a whole must appreciate the whole-hearted manner in which the Mayor and Council and such bodies as the City Club and Real Estate Board stood firmly behind the proposal. Their attitude was completely vindicated.

Now the City Council has its mandate it is fitting to refer to one or two aspects of the controversy. The one clear fact which emerges is that instead of a mill rate this year of just a little less than sixty, it will be necessary to increase only slightly the 1931 rate. Not only does this mean that there will be no appreciable addition of reverted lands; it means that the small home-owner will not be haunted by the prospect of losing his property.

Opponents of this loan have argued that the city ought not to borrow any more money, that it ought to balance its budget by cutting down the necessary expenditure. We would be glad to learn where there is a balanced budget to-day or in what manner the City Council of Victoria could trim its financial requirements this year by another $500,000.

By permitting the city to borrow this money, the taxpayers have spread the payment of debts incurred during a period of economic distress and unemployment over a period of years. The sum total of the arguments of those opposed to this policy has been that the bill should be paid this year by those who already are taxed to the limit. There might be some point in this contention if our civic financial structure had run on the rocks; but it has done nothing of the kind. Our sinking funds for the retirement of our debt are intact. Our obligations will be met as they mature.

All the City Council required, therefore, was that the next generation be asked to contribute something toward the cost of all the advantages to which they will fall heir. Fortunately for Victoria, the majority of the taxpayers who voted yesterday saw the situation in this light.

A CURIOUS WORLD

THE YOUNGSTER WHO FELL DOWN a narrow mine shaft was saved after several dozen men and thousands of dollars worth of mechanical equipment had been pressed into service for him. The eagerness with which the people of that eastern mining town mobilized themselves to get one little three-year-old out of a hole in the ground is an inspiring, heartening thing.

Unfortunately, though, that is only one side of the picture. We live in a cock-eyed world, and here is another little story to prove it.

While this rescue work was going on in Oklahoma, a third grade teacher in a public school in a large middlewestern city was asking her pupils to write short themes entitled, "What I had for breakfast this morning."

The themes, when she got them, were rather shocking. A lot of them consisted of pathetic little scrawls saying, "I did not have any breakfast this morning." "I had a cup of coffee." "Mother went away this morning and did not get me any breakfast." "Nothing."

So the teacher, dipping into a slender fund raised by public contribution, bought each of these youngsters a half pint of milk.

She had then written that theme, you see, so that she could find out, tactfully, just which children had come breakfastless to school.

The city in which this happened is large, and, as cities go, rich. It has magnificent public buildings, it supports an excellent symphony orchestra, a fine art museum and three well-equipped colleges. It has a string of suburbs which contain some fine homes. It also contains several thousand children who get no breakfasts; and in order to get a little money to buy milk for them, it was necessary for the city's newspapers and its radio stations to conduct a long and spirited campaign.

Let one child get into danger and we are quick to come to the rescue. Let several thousand suffer from acute hunger, though, and we remain placid; or we give them each a half pint of milk and think we've done our whole duty.

MUSICIAN AND STATESMAN

IN HIS SEVENTY-SECOND YEAR, Ignace Paderewski has come to Victoria. Some of the younger generation may not know, or perhaps have forgotten, that the man who is now a visitor in this city has played other parts besides that of one of the world's most renowned musicians. One seldom associates music with statesmanship. Yet during the last year of the war, Paderewski was the leading figure in all the organization that preceded the establishment of the Polish republic; and he became Prime Minister in 1919, attended the Peace Conference at Paris, and was the first delegate of Poland to the Council of Ambassadors and also to the League of Nations in 1920. While Paderewski gave his best to his country during the early years of his new status and acquitted himself with distinction, his art beckoned him to return—and he responded to the call. At seventy-two he is still the master pianist. To him the world has been his stage.

TOO LATE TO REGRET

"IT IS TIME FOR A CHANGE" WAS A popular chorus in the summer of 1928, and The Vancouver Province sang it as lustily as other newspapers and voters who thought a government led by Dr. Tolmie would give them better service than the administration in office. The following extract from an editorial which appeared in yesterday's issue of our Mainland contemporary suggests that it does not think the change has been a very good one after all:

Before it submitted to prorogation on Tuesday, the Legislature of British Columbia adopted the report of the select committee on unemployment. In the main, that report is of little importance. It will be filed and forgotten. But it contains one clause which is of first importance to the people of British Columbia. That is the clause censuring Major Harold Brown of Vancouver for the statements he made before the Vancouver Real Estate Exchange and later before the committee itself.

Major Brown, in saying his say, and in standing by his guns when challenged, acted the part of a good citizen. In speaking as he did, he was merely giving voice to the thoughts and suspicions which have been turning over and over in the minds of scores of thousands of British Columbia people during the past weeks. Mr. Brown was making public opinion articulate, and in censuring him the members of the committee and the Legislature merely passed a vote of censure on a very large number of their constituents.

It should be explained, of course, that the censure of Major Brown came from the government members of the committee on unemployment and the government members of the Legislature. It is only fair to say, however, that Major Brown was flitting with neither government nor opposition. He spoke as he felt; and if more would follow his example, we would get a great deal better service from our elected representatives. But the fact remains that the change for which there was such a clamor four years ago has been a pretty costly one for British Columbia.

SQUIRES OF NEWFOUNDLAND

WHATEVER MAY BE BEHIND THE revolt against the rule of the present government in Newfoundland, Sir Richard Squires evidently will not surrender the Premiership without a fight. He is clearing up the business before the Legislature and will lead his party, minus three Ministers who have deserted him, in a general election.

Within the last two months Sir Richard Squires has literally faced death at the hands of mobs. In February, nearly two thousand men and women milled round the street outside the Council Chamber while a number of unemployed forced their way into his office and generally man-handled him. The leaders fought their way past police guards and threatened to throw the Prime Minister from a third-floor window unless he acceded to their demands for more rations. This is what The St. John's Watchman had to say about the incident: "The whole unfortunate affair was brought about by the callous indifference of the Prime Minister, and his pig-headed refusal to meet the committee and talk over ways and means, even after the repeated warning that the crowd was in no mood to be trifled with."

The incident last week was the aftermath of a citizens' meeting which passed a resolution calling for an investigation into the Prime Minister's conduct as it related to charges made by his former Minister of Finance that Sir Richard had falsified minutes of council to divert public funds to political account. It appears that it was after the delegation had been admitted to the House of Assembly that the crowd which had gathered outside, believing the government intended to defer consideration of the resolution, smashed every window in the basement, destroyed government records, and threw office furnishings into the street. Meanwhile, the Premier had left by a side door and escaped the wrath of the citizens.

In the present situation, however, an important constitutional point has been injected by the appeal of Sir John Middleton, the Governor of the Colony, to the British government for a warship to assist in maintaining order. There is nothing to indicate that the Prime Minister had anything to do with this request. In other words, the Governor, by design or unwittingly, has directly involved the administration at Westminster in a matter which is purely domestic to Newfoundland. It will be interesting to watch the course of events as a result of this action. Sir Richard may turn it to his own advantage.

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

BRITAIN COMES BACK
 The Boston Christian Science Monitor

Repayment recently of $150,000,000 of the $200,000,000 loan granted to the British Government by United States banks last August stands as a mile-post on the road to world-wide economic recovery. It serves as an assurance that the nation upon which much of the world has depended for financial anchorage has been able to withstand the economic shocks of history's most trying post-war period. It takes only some such hope-inspiring occurrence as this to call forth from veteran financial observers the opinion that London will in time show itself the financial stronghold it used to be. The wide spread of Britain's interests, her far-flung dominions and a national character peculiarly adapted to the management of finances, affairs no doubt prompt the expressions of this opinion.

CANADIAN CONTROL OF RADIO
 The Manitoba Free Press

Radio undoubtedly is at a turning point in Canada, and the Canadian people should have some idea of what they want to make of it, and what they want it to do for them. If Canadian radio does not pass into government control, it will, it is perfectly safe to make the prediction, pass into the hands of private monopoly; and the ultimate control of Canadian broadcasting will be in the United States. The weakness of the various alternative proposals opposed to government control is that this is where they all lead to. United States radio interests are so powerful, so interlocked, and inter-related, that there would be no escape under private operation, and broadcasts put on the air in Canada for Canadians to hear would, in the last analysis, be controlled from the United States. It is more than doubtful if the Canadian people want anything like this to happen; and this is the consideration which gives the question of national ownership of radio its peculiar importance. We cannot prevent broadcasts coming in from the States; in many cases we welcome them as being of great merit, but that is very different from this country losing control of its own air channels; which seems inevitable if radio passes under the influence of a gigantic private broadcasting monopoly.

Loose Ends

We get back to normal—and find it rather hard at first—especially as strange things are happening out here—and kid-nappers are detected in our woods.

By H. B. W.

WELL, THIS COLUMN is back again to normal, no longer across the Bay in the specialized and learned atmosphere of Parliament, but in the somewhat more fragrant atmosphere of the country. I know you will regret it. I know how you will miss my unvarnished and plain account of our law makers' activities, which are of so much more import and interest than anything Mr. Pudbury, Mr. Beak and I can do out here. But I can't help it. The Legislature, without my permission, has gone, and we must descend in this column to the dull, commonplace of life until it meets again in months hence. Never mind. The time will pass quickly if you don't think about it too much.

I SUPPOSE I owe an apology to the Legislature. I have been complaining against its long delays and the necessity of listening to it, and yet now it is gone, I feel as one abandoned by his last friend. You see, when the House is sitting there is always something to write about; or if there isn't, you can just blame it on the House. You can just say that your stuff is insufferably dull but that the House which inspired it was duller. When the House has gone, however, when there is nothing left but seventy new laws to add to our rather substantial collection, what is there to write about at all? There comes so absorbed in the House after two months as to lose touch with the rest of the world entirely, and I find myself on this first day of leisure as ignorant of things in general as a savage. As a matter of fact, I haven't looked at a paper for weeks, and at a certain new newspaper which is published regularly in ordinary times there must be a pile of papers waiting for me that weighs close to a ton. So far I haven't raised enough courage to go and get them; nor have I saved up enough money to pay for them. And altogether I feel quite incompetent to speak with authority on all subjects which is a fatal feeling for anyone in this job.

AS I WAS sitting here this morning, looking over my first paper in weeks and seeing in it nothing but tales of depression, of friction between nations, of idiotic politics and of worse economics, of hungry people in a world of plenty, it occurred to me that it was all very strange. (I sometimes think dangerous and revolutionary thoughts like that when no one is looking, and there is no legislature to inspire loftier sentiments in my breast.) It occurred to me that all this complete disorganization of the world was curious and unnatural when I looked out of my window on another world, faster, infinitely more populous than ours, and yet perfectly organized, utterly efficient.

OUT THERE the daffodils, nodding their yellow sunbonnets under the oak trees, are busily making their seed and their little bulletins below the ground, with no thought of over-population or unemployment. The last blossoms are fluttering slowly down from my big plum tree, like the first flakes of a winter snow. A fragrant and sweet snow indeed, which covers the ground about with white. Already the old plum tree is making those curious little red plums which taste so sweet when they ripen weeks ahead of any others, and the fact that most of them will be wasted, that the production of little red plums is quite unprofitable, never gives the old plum tree a moment's regret. The brown buds on the oak trees are just beginning to swell and the great oak younger, 500 years old if it is a day, cares not that all its labor of creation will flutter down in a torrent of poor dead leaves next October, for there is always another year, another crop. The frogs clamor here at night, too, as they have always done, and bring forth future frog generations with an absurd contempt for the depression. In my tiny pond I suspect that the red-and-white goldfish and the one with the black spot on its back are about to go in for mating on a grand scale, just as if there were jobs in the world for any more goldfish. And in my cypress tree, now twelve feet high though I grew it from seed, a fat robin is sitting on three pale blue eggs and eyes me suspiciously through the branches. I venture to peek, but it never occurs to her that there are too many robins in the world or that her children may have to grow up on a government dole.

HOW SATISFACTORY, therefore, to turn away from these useless labors and read in the newspapers of worthwhile things, of stock prices going up or down, of economists' plans for solving the depression (each one different), of politicians calling one another names, of murders, burglaries and kidnappings, of wars and rumors of them, of all that vast and splendid pattern of human affairs which 5,000 years of civilization have labored to create. How satisfactory, indeed, and how inspiring to realize that we are not as the poor dumb beasts about us, nor the unfeeling vegetable kingdom! That we are creatures of a divine intelligence, the offspring of homo sapiens, civilized 5,000 years and becoming more sapient and more sapient all the time.

SO YOU MAY see how the larger world news—even the tragic Lindbergh case—ultimately does percolate into these wide in spite of my ignorance. I mention that the little girl from next door came over here just now clutching her morning bouquet tightly in her fist. The bouquet this morning consisted of dandelions which she called "special, beautiful flowers just for you," and which I had to place in a vase on my desk, taking out some daffodils to make room for them. "Um, um," she began as usual, settling herself upside down in my arm-chair.

"Guess which? Well, there's kid-nappers out in our woods." Great big ones. Kidnappers, y'know, is bad chaps. Um, um. They live in a hole in the ground and sometimes when I'm walking through the big dark woods I can feel something hard under my foot and that's the kidnappers. And the kidnappers will eat ya, if ya don't watch out. So ya must take the money out of the bank and give it to the kidnappers or they'll eat ya right up. Mr. Stanley told me so. So the kidnappers take the money and put it in their bank. They've got a little bank into their hole. They look into their bank like snakes, but snakes is different because the daddy snakes have little black pants and the mummy snakes have red ones, and I don't like snakes to play with when they're raw but only when they're dead. But kidnappers aren't just like snakes, cause they've got big long beards out in front of them. And they'll nibble ya if ya don't watch out, 'cause they've got great big teeth that they take out at night time like my Aunt Tilda."

Twenty-five Years Ago To-day

THE VICTORIA DAILY TIMES
 APRIL 15, 1907

(From The Times Files)

Coming from her last trip from the West Coast for some time the steamer City pulled into port yesterday morning. The ship, after having entered the drydock at Esquimalt, where she will be thoroughly overhauled and cleaned preparatory to going on the northern run.

Tenders will be called next week for the erection of the new wing for St. Joseph's Hospital. Specifications and plans for the new wing will be presented to the board on Wednesday of this week by Hopper & Watkins, the architects. It will cost in the neighborhood of $10,000. The wing will be placed on the south side of the present hospital looking towards the straits.

The British sailing ship Deamont, Captain O. Mellin, which reached port on Saturday, experienced almost every kind of weather during the long voyage around the Horn from the Old Country to Victoria. She took 169 days to make the trip from Scotland.

The contract for salvaging the steamship Northwestern, lying near La Touche, Alaska, has been let to the British Columbia Salvage Company. Terms of the contract have not been given out, but it is said a large sum of money will be paid to have the work done.

The fire brigade are decidedly angry at being called out on false alarms during the last few days. The last call was on Saturday afternoon to the Jubilee Hospital. The engine from Yates Street had the fire hose turned out, only to find that they were on a wild goose chase.

WAGE-CUTTING

To the Editor:—Now that the question of wage reduction is so much to the fore, it should be of interest to hear what two leaders of thought and industry in the Old Land think.

Says Lord Beaverbrook: "A policy of wage-cutting is the very negation of statesmanship. It means that ultimately we shall be measuring our standard of life against that of the lowest-paid workers in the world." "Don't reduce salaries or wages. Voices are being raised that advise us to do so. They say that if we reduce wages in this country we shall be able to compete once more in the export markets."

"Do not listen to those voices. If we take that advice we shall merely be reducing our own purchasing power. That will not improve our situation. We cannot starve our way to prosperity."

Wages should be the last thing to touch—not the first. I don't think the right spirit can be got by reducing wages. If savings in any such directions are necessary, before you cut wages sack the six oldest directors.

Hon. John Booth.

These views are obviously not appeals to sentiment, but given as common-sense arguments against the futility of curtailing the power of effective demand during serious periods of unemployment.

THE HUMAN RACE

To the Editor:—A correspondent writing under the heading, The Human Race, brings up the question of the age of mankind and the earth in reference to Bible chronology and suggests 5,000 years as nearest truth. And many indeed there are who are quite content to believe so, though it has been the basis of many a religion. Mankind is slowly groping its way out of darkness, and the light of knowledge will inevitably come to dwell amongst us, dispelling all clouds of ignorance. One of the first steps to be taken for one who aspires to know, yet who insists upon the sanction of the sacred writings, be it the Christian Bible or the Holy Writ of any other religion, is not to be misled by the literal interpretation, which invariably proves to be a snare, for spiritual truth is never expressed in a crude and material way. To begin with, Adam does not signify a certain person, but a race of mankind, and the story of the Garden of Eden symbolically describes the fall of the soul from a high spiritual state into the state of matter, a certain phase of the great cycle of necessity, without which man would not have the experience of life in matter or tasted the knowledge of the tree of good and evil. Most of the Bible stories are derived from the early writings of the Aryan people inhabiting India many thousand years ago and in no way originated with the Hebrews. The 6,000 years of Aryan prehistoric small part of the age of the earth or of mankind. In fact, man, as at present constituted in a material physical body, dates back some 10,000,000 years. The exact age of the earth is known only to the adepts or higher intelligences and runs into unbelievable figures as measured in mundane years. Little would be gained by an appeal to the clergy who though well-meaning are mostly blind leaders of the blind. The Bible is true, no one wishes to question that, it is on the version that everything depends. Of the two doctrines—the esoteric or inner teaching and to the exoteric or outer, the last only is taught by the church to-day, and represents but the husk, while the inner teaching is reserved for those few who seek truth for its own sake and at all costs regardless of dogmas and conventional beliefs. But these, as said, are indeed few and far between.

JOBLESS ARMY

To the Editor:—I notice on the first page of Thursday morning's paper, under heading "Urges Army of Jobless," a suggestion from James S. Woodsworth that mines should be confiscated by the state and worked by an army recruited from the ranks of the unemployed.

What a hopeless mess that would make! As soon as mines are improved and higher wages could be obtained, these men would leave the mines like rats from a sinking ship, and the ship would certainly sink. What few men remained would be useless and unable to do half a day's work. The only result that could possibly happen would be the tremendous advance in the price of metals through lack of production.

Do men who talk such rubbish ever consider the amount of money that large companies spend on investigating properties that are later found to be non-profitable, or the amount of money spent on good properties during their stages of development.

If the government, as a means of relieving unemployment, and helping the comparatively few men who can adapt themselves to mining, feels inclined to start men out prospecting in the hills and river banks, it is entirely another matter. If mining property is discovered the government can go ahead and use the unemployed to develop it. This will not hurt the mining industry or upset the metal market. It is very doubtful if the government mining department could show a favorable balance sheet, but no one would ever expect it.

No, never interfere with such a thing as the mining industry of this country, or you will create an unemployment situation that will stagger belief. Mining is a business run by skilled men. Why throw them out of work to fill their places by unemployed men who know nothing about it?

MINER.

THEN AND NOW

To the Editor:—Here is a letter which I wish you would publish. It is taken from scrap book, December 2, 1924 and is self-explanatory.

LAW ADMINISTRATION

Sir:—Our federal laws are applicable from coast to coast, although the machinery of administration differs. Here, our administration is controlled by the Police Commission, elected by popular vote. The method is not without its weakness. Besides shifting the burden of responsibility from the proper shoulders, and endeavoring to do so, it is possible that under some hypnotic influence or a transitory emotion some person may gain a popularity sufficient to be elected, although totally unfit for such office. It appears occasionally from rumor and incident there is gross ignorance or wilful obstruction existing in some quarters even to-day. It should be plainly understood by those seeking the honor that the office is purely administrative and does not carry discriminatory or discretionary powers.

Some time ago, I made clear these and other points, we laid before the late Attorney-General certain questions. Question 2.—Having knowledge of premeditated offences against the statutes, is it incumbent on the commission that they take preventive measures? Answer.—Yes. Question 4.—Are the commissioners vested with discretionary or discretionary privileges in the enforcement of the law? Answer.—It is the duty of the commissioners to enforce all laws.

Responsibility of citizenship is placed also on every individual, and is not to be evaded by any one. I assume our legal and moral responsibility. Happily, if there is a maladministration in office there is available a process by which he may be corrected. Fortunately for us we have a magistrate, prosecutor and chief of police who command our highest respect, and should have our sympathy and moral support. I believe, too, that the chief has for the most part a competent and faithful staff, and these would not object to their chief having unhampered control. There appears something lacking in the detective department, either inefficiency, unparagonable ignorance, or what? Is dual control partly responsible? "I had been troubled for about a month with pimples which were fairly large. They were scattered all over my face and disfigured it. The pimples festered and became very itchy, causing me to scratch, and when I did they would break and then burn badly. They made me feel very uncomfortable and kept me from sleeping many a night. Oak Bay Finances Gone Through and Found to Be in Good Shape; Details Shown Oak Bay's finances were audited and found to be in good shape by Ismay, Holston and Holden, the council was advised yesterday afternoon when a report of the auditors was presented to each councillor for consideration. Inventories of materials and supplies were also taken and found correct. Cash on hand and bonds were verified by actual count.

During the year new debentures were issued by local improvement by-law No. 692, amounting to $10,892.24. This represents the total issue for the period. Debentures which matured and were paid off during the year totaled $16,025.52. These related to the following: General debt, municipal yard and buildings, $6,400; local improvement by-law No. 98, $9,325.52, and housing, $1,200. The net debenture debt at December 31 was $992,197.36, which, with the new issue of $10,892.24, amounted to $993,089.60. From this amount was deducted for matured debentures and housing loan, paid-off, $16,925.52, which now leaves the debenture debt at $976,164.08.

Sinking fund surpluses are computed on the basis of the amortized value of securities held. During the period transfers from sinking fund surpluses amounted to $9,343.72, made up of $6,965.72 to general revenue, $2,000 to the water department and $380 to the board of school trustees. The same firm also audited the books of the school board and found them as presented.

The capital increase showed an increase of $5,061.43 over 1930, the report showed, but the current surplus showed a decrease of $13,737.31, and the sinking fund surplus a decrease of $2,685.88, which made a decrease in the total surplus of $11,361.76. This fact is because the expenditures for the year exceeded the actual revenue by $14,595.99. From this is deducted the net appreciation of certain assets, amounting to $5,920.11, which leaves $8,675.88, to which is again added the decrease in sinking fund surplus of $2,685.88, leaving the decrease of $11,361.76.

RELIEF MONEY HAS RUN OUT

Oak Bay Has Spent $9,500 on Relief Work, Which Must Now Stop

The full amount of $9,500 allotted for the work being spent, Oak Bay has found it necessary to shut down all unemployment relief work until other money is found to carry on, it was announced at a meeting of the council yesterday afternoon.

The work with this money has been in progress since last December. The money was used sparingly, but eighteen men have been working every week, on surface drainage. Of this amount Oak Bay supplied $3,500, while the rest came from provincial and Dominion Government grants.

Further work in the municipality will be given, however, when 600 feet of paving is commenced on South Hampshire Road, near Central Avenue. This work will be done as the result of a local petition presented to the council yesterday afternoon.

There are five residents in Oak Bay in receipt of the Mothers' Pensions, the council was advised by the Superintendent of Welfare. The total annual allowances amount to $2,580. Just what will be done in regard to these pensions will not be decided until further word is received from the government.

A special grant of $2,000 from Oak Bay to the Jubilee Hospital was acknowledged with thanks yesterday in a letter from the secretary. This grant was in addition to the regular annual grants and the per diem cost of each Oak Bay patient. This sign will be paid in July.

E. W. Patton was thanked by the council for the gift of two park benches which will be put in the playground for the convenience of residents waiting for the buses.

Councillor Hew Paterson will represent the municipality on the board of directors of the new Social Service Exchange, the council decided yesterday when the report of the new league was read.

The Victoria District Fire Insurance Agents' Association has been informed by D. A. S. McGregor, district manager of the British Columbia Insurance Underwriters' Association, that its application for the elimination of exposure charges from dwellings in the suburban parts of Victoria, has been granted as far as it affects the municipality of Oak Bay.

This change will have effect on April 15 and will affect approximately 50 per cent of the risks in Oak Bay and make a material reduction in the amount of the premiums.

Published rates on mercantile or other risks in Oak Bay affected by this change will be revised in due course.

Langford

The Parent-Teacher's Association met in the school house on Wednesday evening with Percy Moir in the chair. I. W. P. Jackson resigned as treasurer and the treasurer's duties were combined with those of the secretary, Mrs. H. Merry. A letter of thanks will be sent Mr. Jackson and also to Mr. and Mrs. Horace Simpson for the use of the school house for a card party. A card party will take place on Wednesday, April 27, Major L. Bullock Webster will address the May meeting, and in June Mrs. M. McCoy Jamieson will give a song recital.

D. B. F. Bullen reported for the group committee of the Boy Scout corps recently formed under the auspices of the P.T.A. The meeting voted funds for affiliation fees and instruction books. W. M. Maxam, a King's Scout, was appointed a member of the group committee. Gift of a Union Jack by R. J. Wagner was reported.

Mrs. Charles D. Schofield spoke on "Books for Young People," and gave hints in dealing with young children.

I.O.D.E. ELECT B.C. OFFICERS

Mrs. W. Curtis Sampson Re-elected President Provincial Chapter Yesterday

Makes Stirring Appeal to Women to Attack "Depression and Apathy"

Mrs. W. Curtis Sampson was re-elected president of the Provincial Chapter I.O.D.E. at yesterday evening's session held in the Empress Hotel. Other officers were chosen as follows: Vice-presidents, Mrs. A. F. Griffiths, Victoria; Mrs. Frank Stead, Vancouver; Mrs. C. P. Hill, Victoria; Mrs. E. E. Dackrill, Trail; Mrs. C. O. Fricker, Anyox; Mrs. Charles Sell, Kamloops; secretary, Mrs. P. E. Corby, Victoria; treasurer, Miss Ilae Terry, Victoria; educational secretary, Miss A. B. Cooke, Victoria; organizing secretary, Mrs. J. H. Gillespie, Victoria; Echoes secretary, Mrs. D. F. Saunders, Burnaby; standard-bearer, Miss Gladys Hindmarch, Nanaimo.

COUNCILLORS ELECTED

The above officers were chosen from the twenty-five councillors elected at yesterday's meeting, the remaining councillors being: Mrs. W. H. Belson, Sidney; Miss Crease, Victoria; Mrs. B. H. Drake, Victoria; Mrs. A. U. de Peñier, Vancouver; Miss Dobson, Nanaimo; Mrs. C. Grosman, Chilliwack; Mrs. J. C. Irons, Vancouver; Mrs. W. C. Nichol, Victoria; Mrs. Gordon Smith, Victoria; Mrs. H. P. Swan, Duncan; Mrs. Andrew Wright, Victoria; Mrs. David Miller, Victoria; and Madame Gauvreau, New Westminster.

PRESIDENT'S ADDRESS

Mrs. Curtis Sampson, in her presidential address, warmly welcomed Mrs. J. W. Fordham Johnson, and reviewed some of the outstanding events in the Empire's history of the last year. She reminded the members of the National Chapter resolution to contribute a cabin to the Empire Memorial Hotel in London in memory of seamen who gave their lives in the great war, the cost to be $400.

Reference was made to child welfare work, particularly that of the prevention in Vancouver and the Solarium, to both of which causes she commended the interest of all chapters.

IT MONEY-MAKING SOCIETY

"May I emphasize the fact that we are not primarily a money-making organization. It is indeed pleasant to have a large bank balance, for it means a greater opportunity for service, but it is to those smaller units in places more remote, who perhaps find it difficult to raise funds and look sadly at their depleted exchequers, that I would speak—do not be discouraged if you cannot make and give large sums of money. There are things of the spirit which also count, and by sympathy and kindness of heart towards your neighbor you can perhaps have a greater influence for good than with a mere donation," continued Mrs. Sampson.

"We should inform ourselves and our neighbors of the highest conditions and resources of the countries comprising the British Empire and endeavour to form a permanent union between the Mother Country and its component parts by ready and willing service at all times."

PRINCE'S MESSAGE

"May I quote from the Prince of Wales's speech at the Albert Hall to 10,000 enter boys and girls organized by the National Council of Social Service, in which he has awakened the nation to a new understanding of the claims of youth, and which is as readily applicable to young and old: 'A threefold message—First—For a fresh response to national service; for a greater spirit of unselfish and adventurous helpfulness among problems which the ablest in our midst find difficult to unravel. Second—The opportunity of service is at our door in our village, in our own town. Third—The enemy today is depression and apathy. Let us attack them with two old-fashioned British characteristics—good sense and good humor.'"

After thanking the officers and members for their loyal support, Mrs. Sampson concluded: "Empire Day is approaching. In our thought of Empire day there is nothing in the nature of day-waving, no boasting of painting the map red. No—only a sense of pride (Turn to Page 9, Col. 3)

TO SING DURING TEA AT HOTEL

O'Neill of Kamloops, grand president of the league in Canada. The hostesses were Mrs. Angus Galbreith and Mrs. C. Cottell, and pouring tea were Mrs. Eugene Clark and Mrs. Barr. The table was arranged with bowls of wallflowers. The guests included Mesdames W. D. Todd, Creach, Pitcaimmon, Paterson, Smith, Maunrell, Downwell, Milburn, Willing, Dorrells, Wilson, Pike and Charles, Miss Redhead and Miss McMillan.

MANY GUESTS AT WEDDING

Miss Winnifred E. Bosence Bride Yesterday of Gilbert Tuttle

The Pentecostal Hall, Broad Street, profusely decorated with roses and lilies of the valley, formed the setting yesterday evening for a largely attended wedding when Rev. C. M. Ward united in marriage Winnifred Eleanor, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. Bosence, to Mr. Gilbert Tuttle, of Cloverdale.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a handsome gown of white crepe-black satin and lace fashioned on long lines, while over the short-sleeved bodice was arranged a cape of lace. Her bridal veil of embroidered silk net was held in place on her head with a circlet of orange blossoms. She carried a shower of bouquet of Opheila roses, carnations, sweet peas and maidenhair fern.

Sisters of the bride acted as bridesmaids, Miss Evelyn Bosence wore a frock of beige georgette and hat to match, and Miss Lily Bosence, a frock of pink tulle and lace with hat to match. Each carried a shower bouquet of roses, sweet peas, carnations and greenery. The groom was supported by Mr. Arthur Allison and the ushers were

Following the marriage service, a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bosence, 3009 Cedar Hill Road, where they were assisted in receiving the guests by Mrs. Bosence, wearing a gown of pale mauve georgette and lace with hat to match, and a corsage of pink carnations.

Spring flowers were used in decoration at the home. A three-tier wedding cake, surmounted with a vase of carnations, formed the centerpiece on the supper table, while silver vases held in place pink carnations as a further artistic touch to the table appointments.

Mr. and Mrs. Tuttle left by motor for a trip up the Island, and will visit in Vancouver prior to returning to Vancouver Island, where they will make their home at Gordon Head. For traveling the bride wore an ensemble of brown and hat to match.

CHAPTER PASSES
RESOLUTIONS
SISTER FRANCES
DIED YESTERDAY

A resolution calling for the sending of a message of loyal support to the Canadian representatives to the Imperial Economic Conference to be held in Ottawa shortly and to assure these representatives and the government under whose regime this momentous conference is to be held of its implicit confidence that in its deliberations all things will be ordered and settled with a view to strengthening the influence of the British commonwealth of nations, was passed at this morning's session of the Provincial Chapter, I.O.D.E.

The chapter also passed a resolution calling for the Provincial Chapter of the Solarium, the Mary Croft Memorial, and that it be maintained by the Provincial Chapter and by those keeping Alexandra Rose Day and others. By this decision two other suggestions as to the form of the proposed Mary Croft Memorial were defeated. The chapter also defeated a motion to delete the by-law providing that one-third of the representatives from each primary chapter to be elected to the provincial executive.

CHILD WELFARE

Mrs. R. D. Hawkshaw, in her report on Child Welfare, reviewed the numerous manifestations of the various chapters in the order's work. Practical and valuable assistance had been given mainland chapters to the Preventorium in Vancouver, while Vancouver Island Chapters had given splendid support to the Solarium and to the Sunshine Camp at Sooke. In the progress of many individual cases had been assisted, including milk for undernourished children, and gifts to needy settlers in the Peace River and other isolated districts.

The assistance given to needy settlers, particularly in the Peace River district, was described at length in the excellent report presented by Mrs. J. Spratt as convener of the immigration committee. The timely help extended by the chapters had gone far in keeping up the morale during this time of great financial stress, she averred.

Miss J. Crease reported for Alexandra Rose Day committee, Mrs. P. Price for the League of Nations, Mrs. Dallas Perry for I.O.D.E. Girl Guide Chapters, and Mrs. J. Hawkshaw for films, telling of the progress made in British films and the increasing interest shown in their presentation in Canada.

Following the adjournment, the president, Mrs. Curtis Sampson, placed a beautiful wreath on the Cenotaph on behalf of the Provincial Chapter.

Standard-bearers
Give Delightful
Luncheon Party

Standard-bearers of the Victoria Municipal and primary chapters, I.O.D.E., entertained the visiting standard-bearers attending the provincial annual meeting at a delightful luncheon today in the Julia Frances tea room, Belmont Building. The Municipal standard-bearer, Mrs. G. P. Clarke, welcomed the guests, the provincial representative, Miss Gladys Hindmarch, of Nanaimo, replying charmingly to the bouquets for the guests were made by Mrs. H. K. Prior of red, white and blue flowers.

Red, white and blue flowers, the gift of Mrs. J. J. Guillebert from her garden, formed the attractive decoration of the table, and the dainty place cards were the artistic handiwork of Miss Lepel Phipps. Following the luncheon, Miss Hindmarch placed the flowers on the Cenotaph on behalf of all the standard-bearers.

Those present at the luncheon were: Mrs. G. Hindmarch, Nanaimo; Mrs. P. Clarke, Victoria; Miss M. Sulley, Vancouver; Miss H. Macklin, Cobble Hill; Mrs. Wooster, New Westminster; Mrs. M. incalculable value during the typhoid epidemic in 1888. When, some years later, an isolation hospital was built, Sister Frances was placed in charge at her own request, and she refused to appoint anyone else to this dangerous work.

In 1925 a new St. Luke's Home was erected to replace the old one.

Many stories are told of Sister Frances's self-sacrifices. One night she was told of a poor woman suffering from typhoid fever in a shack near the waterfront. Doctors told Sister Frances that the woman could not be properly treated where she was. "She can have my bed," said Sister Frances. The patient was taken to Sister Frances's room and nursed to recovery.

"Mad Marriage"

By LAURA LOU BROOKMAN
Author of "Heart Hungry," Etc.
(Copyright by NEA Service Inc.)

The coffee had been boiled too long. Gypsy hoped Jim had been better. As she ate the toast the girl listed lazily for the day and wrote out the dinner menu. Then she went to the kitchen and consulted Matilda about supplies to be bought.

It was nearly ten o'clock. Gypsy hurried upstairs and put on street clothes. When she came down she saw the postman coming up the walk, and went to meet him.

"Any letters?" she asked.

The postman smiled. "Yes, ma'am," he said, "Lots of letters." There were several envelopes and a folded magazine in the assortment he handed her. The postman touched his hat and turned away.

Gypsy stood glancing through the letters. There were bills and an envelope addressed to Jim that probably contained a circular. A postcard announcing a sale in the city. Gypsy came to the last envelope and as she recognized the handwriting her heart seemed to stop beating.

CHAPTER XXIII

Upstairs, securely locked away in the lowest dresser drawer in Gypsy's bedroom, there was a package of letters tied with cord. They were addressed in the same bold handwriting as the envelope in her hand. The difference was that this letter had been directed to "Mrs. James Wallace." Gypsy seemed to cease breathing. Then it began to pound tumultuously.

There were the familiar initials, "A. R. C." in the left-hand corner. There was the same little curly-cue Alan always made when he wrote a capital "M." Gypsy turned the letter over, noting the New York postmark. Slowly she went back into the house.

She dropped the other letters on a table in the hall and climbed the flight to her bedroom. Inside the room she closed the door behind her and sank to the edge of the bed.

After all these days it had come! All this while, Gypsy suddenly realized, she had been praying for this letter. It was as though she had suddenly awakened from a long nightmare.

She held up the envelope and started to tear one end open. Something made her hesitate. "Mrs. James Wallace," she read the name over again. "Mrs. James Wallace."

"Alan!" the girl sobbed convulsively. "Oh, Alan—!" She flung herself face down against the pillows, and tears came unchecked. They dampened one corner of the letter to which she clung tightly. They were hot tears, wrenched forth with great shaking sobs. "Alan, I want you! I want you!" the girl moaned. "Oh, what am I to do?"

Presently she sat up, groping for a handkerchief to dry her red and swollen eyes. She still held the letter unopened.

One part of her yearned feverishly to read what Alan had written. The other part—it was fear—cautioned "Don't do it! You'll be sorry," Gypsy held the envelope and stared at it.

Yes, of course she must open it! There were a thousand things that could have happened since she left New York. Alan might be needing her.

Gypsy jumped up and crossed the room. "You're Jim Wallace's wife," she told herself. "You married him to get away from Alan. Crosby doesn't love you. He never did love you. Open that letter and you'll regret it. What if he should say he's sorry now? What can you do about it? It's too late!"

She heard a knock at the door. Gypsy stood motionless. After a moment she called out:

"Who is it?"

Matilda answered in her heavy accent. "It's Miss Christopher, Ma'am. She's downstairs waiting. She said you was expecting her."

"Tell her I'll come in a few minutes," Gypsy directed. She was still wearing the suit coat and hat she had put on to go out marketing. Gypsy tossed aside the hat, fluffed out her hair and went to the bathroom to dash cold water on her eyes. She could not entirely conceal the swollen lids but powder was helpful.

The last thing she did before leaving the room was to drop Alan's letter into the desk drawer. She gave it a wistful glance, then hurried down the stairs.

Miss Christopher was slender and gray-haired. She sat in a straight-backed chair and as Gypsy entered the living-room she arose, smiling.

"How do you do, Mrs. Wallace?" she said. "I hope I'm not too early. I've just been admiring the lines of that fireplace. You know we're going to make this into a beautiful room!"

"Good morning, I hope you'll excuse me for keeping you waiting," Gypsy's smile was mechanical.

Miss Christopher opened her handbag and took out bits of dark-colored cloth. "Of course I understand you're busy," she said. "Now here are the samples and I do think this mulberry is lovely. If you prefer a lighter shade I'd recommend the buff. You could have the same color in this brocade if you'd rather. They're sun-proof of course. Notice the quality—"

Gypsy fingered the little squares of fabric, frowning.

"I'll show you what I have in mind," Miss Christopher continued. "Here—perhaps I'd better make a sketch. By crossing the overdrapes you get the effect of a valance in a new way. Do you see what I mean?"

Miss Christopher's voice was bird-like. As she drew the diagram she chattered on. Gypsy, trying to listen, found that she was hearing the high, chirping syllables without the slightest realization of their meaning.

The girl nodded when an answer seemed to be expected of her. Twice Miss Christopher repeated questions. She was certainly energetic. From curtains she turned the conversation to furniture and rugs and she rose from her chair and dashed across the room to show just where she would place the Georgian chest she recommended. Gypsy heard such phrases as "modern treatment" and "periods in harmony" and "light values."

How had Alan learned where to send the letter? How long had he known that she was married? Gypsy puzzled over these questions. Most of all she wanted to know where he was and what had made him write to her. She had felt so brave when she had left without a word of farewell. Now she knew it had been running away.

Miss Christopher's voice broke in upon the girl's thoughts. "If you'd care to show me the upstairs rooms now—" she began, but Gypsy interrupted.

"I'm sorry," she said. "I'm afraid we'll have to make it some other time. I have some appointments that I really must keep."

"I'm sorry," she said. "I'm afraid we'll have to make it some other time. I have some appointments that I really must keep."

"I'm sorry," she said. "I'm afraid we'll have to make it some other time. I have some appointments that I really must keep."

"I'm sorry," she said. "I'm afraid we'll have to make it some other time. I have some appointments that I really must keep."

WOULD SEIZE BIG INCOMES

Miss MacPhail Suggests Confiscation of All Incomes Over $25,000 as Remedy

Woman M.P. Urges Abolition of Right to Inherit Big Fortunes

Canadian Press

Ottawa, April 15.—Abolition of the right to inherit large fortunes was urged in the Commons yesterday evening by Miss Agnes MacPhail, Progressive, Southeast Grey, Ontario. She also endorsed the suggestion of Robert Gardiner, leader of the United Farmers of Alberta, that all incomes in excess of $25,000 should be confiscated. Canada was "in a jam," and the load of taxation was approaching the breaking point for the great mass of the people.

"Go for taxes where the money lies," the Finance Minister was advised by Miss MacPhail, the only woman member of the House. The natural and most fruitful hunting ground was the field of large incomes, she said.

"I do not understand why money should be inherited in large amounts," proceeded Miss MacPhail, while the House assumed a stony silence. This practice meant enslavement for one class of children and opulence for the other. Confiscation of large incomes and inherited money would provide the treasury with revenue for use in social lines and would relieve the taxation burden of the great mass of the people.

The present might not be the right time to carry out suggestions such as advanced, but eventually it would be done, Miss MacPhail said. Some day it would be seen that those who had great wealth would have to take care of social activities.

The government should not parade the Imperial Economic Conference as much as it was doing, she declared. She did not think that assembly would be the "world-shaking event" some people predicted.

She wanted the conference to succeed. Unless Canada was willing to buy goods from Great Britain, Canada could not expect the British to buy goods from her.

The House had heard a great deal about the "extra" tax. It was a new tax on incomes over $25,000. It was a new tax on incomes over $25,000. It was a new tax on incomes over $25,000.

What were the conditions now on the farms? she asked. The day before Easter she had visited her constituency and found the farmers "extra" were selling two dozen for 25 cents. Other commodities, the products of the mixed-farms, had fallen also. She considered members of the Conservative Party could get up and talk about agriculture at all.

While favoring co-operative enterprise in the marketing of farm products, Miss MacPhail declared it was impossible to build up such enterprise on a falling market.

A surprise visit was recently paid to the home of J. L. Brooks, Stelly's Crossroads, the occasion being his daughter Emma's birthday. The visitors were: Mr. and Mrs. W. Gowdy, Mr. and Mrs. E. Sidwell, Mr. and Mrs. C. Reading, Mr. and Mrs. J. Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. L. Pike, Mrs. F. Fox, Messrs. J. and H. Stark.

Stuart Adamson of Salmon Arm was a recent visitor at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Freeland, Stelly's Crossroads, is visiting relatives at Yakima, Wash.

Bernard Harding, Edmonton, is spending a holiday with his father, E. Harding, Verdier Avenue.

BEDTIME STORY
Uncle Wiggily And Tootie's Tooth

(By HOWARD R. GARIS)

Having finished breakfast in his hollow-stump bungalow one morning, Uncle Wiggily was getting ready to hop out and have an adventure when he saw Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy going upstairs with a big red apple in her paw.

"What are you going to do with the apple, Jane?" asked the rabbit.

"Hush! Don't say a word!" squeaked the muskrat lady in a whisper.

"Why shouldn't I say a word?" asked Uncle Wiggily.

"Because it's a secret," answered Nurse Jane.

"What is a secret—that apple?" asked Mr. Longears. "Because if it is I have a lot more secrets down cellar."

"Oh, please hush," begged Nurse Jane. "You'll know all about it in a little while. Of course the apple isn't a secret, but what I am going to do with it is. Please hush."

So Uncle Wiggily hushed but he listened. He saw Nurse Jane hurry up the stairs and then he heard his wife ask:

"Did you get it?"

"Yes, and a good hard one, too," said Nurse Jane.

"My goodness!" thought Uncle Wiggily. "I guess some of the Bad Chaps."

"Catch the ball!"

must have gotten in upstairs and Nurse Jane is going to throw a hard apple at them to make them run away. I'd better go up and help them."

Uncle Wiggily crept softly upstairs and when he was outside the room where the rabbits played—there was no school, he heard the voice of Tootie saying:

"No! No! I'm not going to take a bite. Please go away and let me alone!"

"Oh, Tootie, take a bite of this nice apple!" begged his mother.

"No! No!" cried Tootie, who was one of Uncle Wiggily's little rabbit boys.

"What's the matter, Nurse Jane?" spoke the muskrat lady out in the hall with the apple.

"I wish you'd go away and let me alone!" howled Tootie.

The door of the playroom opened and came Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy. In one paw she carried the red apple and Mr. Longears heard his wife say:

"Maybe he'll let me pull it out, Jane. Leave him with me."

"What's the matter, Nurse Jane?" asked the rabbit gentleman as he saw the muskrat lady out in the hall with the apple.

"I wish you'd go away and let me alone!" howled Tootie.

"Your little boy, Tootie, has a loose tooth. His mother and I have tried to pull it so it wouldn't drop down his throat and choke him, but he won't let us touch it."

"So Tootie has a loose tooth, has he?" asked the rabbit gentleman.

"A very loose tooth," said Nurse Jane. "I thought maybe if he took a bite of a hard apple it would hurt a bit and then everything will be all right. Let me pull the loose tooth."

"No! No! No!" cried Tootie.

"Hush! It's time I did something," said Uncle Wiggily. He looked around the corners of the room and saw a ball that Baby Bunty had been tossing to Jingle. Picking up the ball, Mr. Longears went in the room where Tootie sat with his mother and the loose tooth.

"Have a catch, Tootie!" cried Uncle Wiggily.

Oh, Daddycum, have you come to play ball?" asked the rabbit boy.

"Of course I have," said Mr. Longears. "Here you are! Catch the ball!"

He threw it quickly to Tootie. It was a soft, rubber ball and when it hit the little rabbit in his mouth it didn't hurt at all. But down on the floor dropped something white like a pearl.

"Oh, there's my loose tooth!" cried Tootie. "You knocked it out with the rubber ball. Daddycum! And I'm so glad."

"So am I!" laughed Uncle Wiggily. And his wife said: "So am I, for now I don't have to pull it." So Tootie's tooth came out all right.

And if bakersman will give me four molasses cookies to make wheels for the rubber doll's carriage, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and Pokie's peanuts.

Nanaimo, April 15.—The marriage of Miss Marion Johnstone, daughter of Mrs. E. A. Johnstone, Nicol Street, to Thomas A. YOUTHS WILL STAND TRIAL

After a preliminary hearing before Magistrate George Jay in the Saanich Police Court yesterday afternoon, Robert McElroy and another youth, a juvenile, were committed for trial on charges of breaking and entering the home of F. Hole, 2904 Harriet Road, and stealing three watches and two rings, last Thursday night.

The pair were arrested as the result of investigation by city detectives in co-operation with the Saanich Police. The first trace was discovered when one of the allegedly stolen watches was recovered in a second-hand store. Subsequent investigation led to the arrest of James Foyer on a charge of possessing the stolen watch, and further inquiry resulted in the arrest of the two accused.

Foyer explained to the court he had been asked to sell the watch for one of the accused and had done so, receiving $2 for it, which he turned over. He did not know it was stolen. The charge against him was dropped after he had testified in the other cases.

Detective Jack Rogers of the city force apprehended Foyer and Detectives Henry Jarvis and Fearon Woodburn took the other two into custody after wards near Swan Lake.

The juvenile was called to the stand to testify against McElroy and admitted having gone to the house of Mr. Hole on the night of April 7.

He described how they had jimmied a back window, entered, and stolen the articles mentioned.

H. W. R. Moore, defence counsel in the McElroy case, asked for dismissal on the grounds that the uncorroborated evidence of an accomplice could not result in a conviction.

The magistrate pointed out that this was a matter of discretion, and since he was not presiding in the capacity of a trial judge, he thought there was sufficient evidence to warrant the accused facing trial.

Your Baby and Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

MASTERY OF SPOON AND CUP LEAD WAY TO INDEPENDENCE

Every mother is convinced of the desirability of teaching the child to be independent. But independence is a slow growth, constantly checked by the child's own parents, because of much of his natural expression of independence runs counter to the parent's comfort and so is nipped in the bud. The independence that comes from a mastery of the physical environment is smiled upon by the parent. That is a nice type of independence which she can appreciate and foster.

FIRST STEPS

Feeding by spoon and cup and eventually self-feeding with such utensils are steps in a development of independence. At five or six months both cups and spoons can be given the child as playthings.

He'll become accustomed to the use of a spoon almost from birth and be ready at about nine months or earlier to imitate his mother's use of it. Put the spoon in his hand and direct its over-riding load from the plate to the meal. By the time baby is twelve months old, he should be able to manage his spoon competently.

THE CUP

Having played with a cup, he should be taught to drink from it as easily as he is able to use the spoon. As soon as he can sit up well, offer a spoonful of liquid by cup. It is held to his mouth patiently and no fuss made over spilling or spitting out the liquid. The child will learn how to swallow without choking or spitting. Some children learn this easily. Others have to be dealt with patiently with their display of excitement over their failures.

A more detailed discussion of spoon feeding and cup feeding is included in my two leaflets, "Teaching Baby to Use a Spoon," and "Weaning From Bottle to Cup." Send a self-addressed stamped envelope with your request for them to Mrs. Eldred in care of the "Your Baby and Mine" department of this newspaper.

BOTTLE ADDICT

The children most difficult to convince that cup drinking is desirable are those who have had bottles for many long months. The pleasure of bottle feeding comes by no means only because of the milk they receive from it, but the sensory pleasure of embracing the warm bottle and drinking its contents in leisurely fashion. Going to sleep is so persistently connected with the bottle feeding that the child can hardly consent to one without the other. Such a child will have nothing to do with cups. He wants his bottle, and in many cases he gets it.

The mother must realize that acceptance of a cup is a definite upward step in his development. It is unimportant whether he goes without milk for a day or a week or a month. Milk can be incorporated into his solid foods. The conquest of this baby habit lifts him to a new level of independence. He is no longer an infant, slave of a bottle, but a child who has learned how to swallow milk or liquid in larger quantities and how to handle the utensil competently.

Your Baby and Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

MASTERY OF SPOON AND CUP LEAD WAY TO INDEPENDENCE

Every mother is convinced of the desirability of teaching the child to be independent. But independence is a slow growth, constantly checked by the child's own parents, because of much of his natural expression of independence runs counter to the parent's comfort and so is nipped in the bud. The independence that comes from a mastery of the physical environment is smiled upon by the parent. That is a nice type of independence which she can appreciate and foster.

FIRST STEPS

Feeding by spoon and cup and eventually self-feeding with such utensils are steps in a development of independence. At five or six months both cups and spoons can be given the child as playthings.

He'll become accustomed to the use of a spoon almost from birth and be ready at about nine months or earlier to imitate his mother's use of it. Put the spoon in his hand and direct its over-riding load from the plate to the meal. By the time baby is twelve months old, he should be able to manage his spoon competently.

THE CUP

Having played with a cup, he should be taught to drink from it as easily as he is able to use the spoon. As soon as he can sit up well, offer a spoonful of liquid by cup. It is held to his mouth patiently and no fuss made over spilling or spitting out the liquid. The child will learn how to swallow without choking or spitting. Some children learn this easily. Others have to be dealt with patiently with their display of excitement over their failures.

A more detailed discussion of spoon feeding and cup feeding is included in my two leaflets, "Teaching Baby to Use a Spoon," and "Weaning From Bottle to Cup." Send a self-addressed stamped envelope with your request for them to Mrs. Eldred in care of the "Your Baby and Mine" department of this newspaper.

CUTS MADE IN POLICE BUDGET

Vancouver Board Authorizes Chief to Dismiss Seven Men From Force

Canadian Press. Vancouver, April 15.—Authorization of the dismissal of seven men from the police force was given yesterday by the police committee in anticipation of the approval of the police estimates by the city council.

The curtailment of the force, the chief reported, would be made possible by the estimates providing for the abolition of B and C divisions and the substitution of a beat-box system and police radio equipment.

In advising he be given power to dismiss seven men, the chief said the council's delay in approving its budget was costing the city $1,200 a month. He had to wait until the council passed its budget before giving notice, his cost would be increased proportionately.

The delay had already cost $1,000, he computed. In spite of this, he reported police expenditures this year would be $64,021 less than he originally estimated, provided his figures were approved by council.

A 10 per cent wage cut would save $54,242. Superannuation payments based on wages would decline $3,000, telephone bills would drop $500 and heating would cost $375 less. In addition, competition among radio companies had driven the prospective price of radio equipment down $4,504 from $12,109 to $7,605, he said.

He remarked in general that "the delay has severely handicapped the department in putting into effect contemplated reorganizations and in lack of equipment."

"When we get the radio," he concluded, "we will be in a position to answer a lot of the criticism that has been floating about."

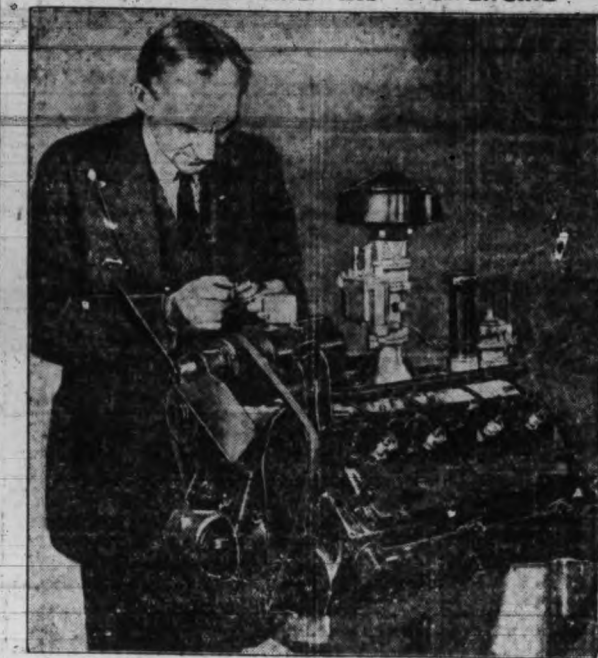

SALARY CUT IS CRITICIZED

measures passed by the House, as well as the interim supply bill, made allowance for the reduction, he said.

"The government had taken action without any legislative authority," commented Mr. King. "What reason existed for passing a bill, authorizing the cut, through the House if the government could take action in the way just indicated?

Mr. Rhodes mentioned the supply bill had been approved and it provided for the 10 per cent cut.

The government had acted without the authority of Parliament, said Mr. King. The bill authorizing the 10 per cent cut was still in the committee stage. It would not become law until passed by the Commons and the Senate had given royal assent.

But, argued Mr. Rhodes, the government must depend on supply bills for payment of salaries.

One of the obligations of the opposition leader was to guard the rights of Parliament, said Mr. King. The course taken by the government was both arbitrary and illegal. He assumed the same course had been adopted in respect to salaries of the House of Commons members and senators. In respect to the senators, they had not even been given an opportunity to see the legislation providing for the reduction.

G. G. Fowler, Liberal, Quebec South, asked if the reduction was being applied to the military.

Mr. Rhodes said he could not say. He presumed not.

The opposition leader suggested there had been some rumors the cut would be applied to judges and lieutenant-governors. How could this be done under the circumstances?

Again Mr. Rhodes had nothing to say, and the discussion ended.

Currency Inflation Urged As Easiest Way

Washington Facing $2,000,000,000 Deficit, Is Bombarded With Emergency Proposals

FURLOUGH WITHOUT PAY FOR GOVERNMENT STAFFS

But Speaker Garner Prefers Flat Cut in Salaries; Senator Smoot Gives Stock Tip

By Ken Clark, Canadian Press Staff Writer

Washington, April 15.—Currency inflation definitely appears as a possible solution of the financial difficulties confronting the United States.

Eugene V. Meyer, chairman of the federal reserve board, warned the House of Representatives committee on banking and currency on inflationary devices that might be assumed to be beneficial and might prove dangerous to government credit at home and abroad.

But meantime, advocates of the payment of $2,000,000,000 to veterans of the Great War, pushed the case for inflation through the mouth of William F. King, professor of economics at New York University. Before a house committee guarded by blue coats, King made a little lecture saying "Congress can fix the price level because it can fix the weight of dollars in gold."

Robert M. Harris, New York cotton broker, advocated the bonus payment as likely to enhance prices of all kinds. "It would probably," he said, "lead to an embargo on export of gold and temporary suspension of gold payments."

The two billion deficit

The day developed the most energetic and general attack yet made on the government's financial situation which may be summarized as follows: Deficit for fiscal year ending June 30—$2,000,000,000 to be added to public debt now $18,500,000,000. Estimated 1932—1933—$1,200,000,000 to be taken care of by revenue legislation now in the Senate $1,000,000,000 and economies now considered by Congress.

Proposed soldiers bonus $2,000,000,000.

MANY REMEDIES TALKED

Forty doctors attacked the problem in as many ways.

Clyde R. Mills, Secretary of the Treasury, urged the Senate finance committee to lay aside partisanship in consideration of the revenue bill "in this emergency."

In the matter of economies the House leaders remained in disagreement with the President concerning his proposal for a furlough without pay for government employees. Speaker Garner preferred a flat cut in salaries.

Meantime, in the Senate, one of the President's bitterest opponents, Hiram Johnson of California rose in his place and shouted "cuts in salaries of less than $3,000 would be the cruelest, meanest, sickest thing."

While Meyer was telling Congress the Reconstruction Finance Corporation have loaned to 1,219 banks mostly in small towns, progress was reported on the Glass Bill to prevent use of federal funds for speculation. Senator Borah said he would like to see the public not to liquidate their holdings of stock. One stock selling at $15.00 was worth $5.00, he said.

Meantime, Senator Peter Norbeck, chairman of the committee investigating the stock market, said those who charged "bear raids" were responsible for blocking governmental attempts at stock rehabilitation, should have an opportunity to prove their case.

Another economic ailment was set up by Senator Bingham of Connecticut, who declared at a House hearing on prohibition the basis for modification had become "an economic issue to end depression."

A conglomerate of remedies and disputes made it one of the liveliest days Washington has seen in months.

NEW ZEALAND PREMIER WARNS RIOTERS TO DESIST

Conditions were fairly quiet in Auckland as evening came, but the special patrols were maintained. Auckland's Queen Street was a sadly littered thoroughfare and efforts were being made to clean up the mess.

Meanwhile a hundred civilians and more than a score of police were nursing injuries, few of them serious, as a result of the most serious period of the rioting yesterday evening. A large amount of the damage consisted of bruised heads and cuts.

Dispatches said that the first clash between police and rioters began early Thursday evening with an outbreak at the conclusion of an orderly parade of civil servants protesting against a 10 per cent cut in their salaries. Fighting started near the city hall, where a crowd of unemployed engaged police, hurling stones and using force palings as weapons.

Police, completely outnumbered, were unable to stem the tide of the mob, which smashed all the windows on Queen Street, and broke into shops. Many youths and women took part in the disturbance.

FIGHTING FOR HOURS

Fighting lasted two hours. Rioters smashed all lights and, as night fell, looting continued in the darkness.

At the height of the encounter, police reinforcements rushed to the scene. Even with the aid of the fire department, which turned streams of water on the mob, they were unable to quell the fighting. Finally, machines were summoned from the Philadelmel, and the situation became quiet.

Authorities expressed belief the riot was premeditated. They said the first wave of the mob who surged down Queen Street was led by a band of women and youths who quickly became men with a spirit of wanton destruction.

Auckland, with a population estimated last year at 217,000, is the largest city and principal seaport of New Zealand.

The city was founded in 1840 by Governor Hobson and was capital of the colony, as it then was, until 1865, when the seat of government was moved to Wellington. Auckland, however, remained the capital of the province which bears the same name.

B.C.E.R. Co. Agrees to Let Vancouver City Auditors Look Over Accounts

Cash Fare on Cars in City Is Subject Now Under Negotiation

Canadian Press

Vancouver, April 15.—Permission for city auditors to examine records of the B.C. Electric Railway was granted by W. G. Murrin, president of the company, in a letter read at a special meeting of the city council to-day, and it is expected that within a few days A. A. Fairlie of Heliwell, MacLachlan and Company, the city's external auditors, will commence the examination.

Last week Mr. Murrin was asked to allow city auditors to check the company books in connection with negotiations now proceeding between the city and company to fix a street car fare. At that time, Mr. Murrin frowned on the proposal, but promised to inform the council by letter of his final decision. In his letter to-day he agreed to the council's proposal, although he regarded it as unusual. He asked he be supplied with a copy of the report, and the council agreed.

ENGINEERING BASIS

The company president informed the aldermen, however, that the only satisfactory survey would be one made by an impartial firm of experts, which could work from an engineering-audit basis. Information derived from such a source, he wrote, would be of value to both the company and city in the present and future fare negotiations.

The council and company representatives will confer again on the fare subject next Tuesday evening. At that time Mr. Murrin will reply to arguments advanced by G. E. McCrossan, K.C., city counsel, last week. In his letter, Mr. Murrin stated some of the figures quoted by Mr. McCrossan were erroneous and he desired an opportunity to correct them.

The present cash fare is seven cents. Five cents has been mentioned in discussions. A few days ago Mr. McCrossan asked if the company would consider an agreement on a six-cent basis.

Council's Loan Plan Endorsed By Voters

petent to criticize Victoria's financial position.

RECORD VOTE

Rolling up one of the largest by-law votes of recent years, the voters yesterday endorsed the borrowing policy of the city council by passing the $1,500,000 Unemployment Relief Loan By-law with a comfortable majority.

Nearly 70 per cent of the votes cast were in favor of the measure, the actual poll being for 2,815 against 1,589. There were twenty spoiled ballots, bringing the total poll to 4,424.

Close to 50 per cent of the property owners on the last case votes on the by-law, an unusually high percentage. The usual by-law poll is around 3,500.

While the voters in favor of the measure showed an actual majority over the required three-fifths of 172, the "ayes" were 75 per cent stronger than the "noes." To offset the negative votes only 2,384 affirmative votes were actually required so that the margin in favor was well over 400.

FURTHER REDUCTIONS

Alderman P. R. Brown, finance committee chairman, also issued a brief statement, promising the public further reductions in the civic budget before the end of the year.

"I need hardly say I am delighted with the result of the poll," he said. "It shows the ratepayers are ready to listen when the facts are placed squarely before them."

Hon. J. W. Jones, Minister of Finance, addressed a meeting of Division 3 Conservative Association yesterday evening.

Customs Guards Make Discovery When Looking Through Liner at Vancouver

Canadian Press

Vancouver, April 15.—Lemons, innocently hanging in strings to dry on board the liner Empress of Asia, when examined by the customs guards, searching squad proved to contain considerable opium. Also, Oriental dried fruit, of an unknown variety, had cores of dried opium. The customs men seized the fruited lemons and some paraphernalia for smoking, but made no arrests. The narcotics and implements were assumed to be the property of members of the ship's crew.

Some slight readjustments in the distribution of work between the customs and the Royal Canadian Mounted preventive branch have been made. Alexander MacLachlan, customs superintendent on the waterfront, has now charge of the search squads and of the small patrol launch, imperator. His department has taken over the old search squad formerly in customs preventive service. As in the past, the searching of the ships will remain under the customs, with Mr. MacLachlan as direct head of the waterfront work.

PETITION FAILS TO STAY EXECUTION

Associated Press

Walla Walla, Wash., April 15.—Two men died on the gallows at the state prison here shortly after midnight for the slaying of Peter Jacobson, an elderly Thurston county farmer, last July, leaving a signed statement that the deed was "all a mistake."

The two were Harold Carpenter, thirty, and Walter Dubuc, nineteen-year-old youth, the youngest person ever executed in Washington state. Witnesses said Dubuc was completely broken in spirit, while Carpenter went to his death displaying less emotion.

Rev. E. T. Allen had been with the two during the evening in their cells. In the statement which the pastor revealed later, the two declared that in the excitement of midnight fog, they had mistaken the man for an enemy and that they were doing and that it had been "all a mistake."

Sarasota, Fla., April 15.—William J. Burns, world-famed detective, died at his home here yesterday evening.

Mr. Burns, who was probably the most famous detective in the detective business in the United States during his active years, died suddenly. He was seventy years old, a native of Baltimore.

He founded the detective agency bearing his name and was director of the Bureau of Investigation of the United States Department of Justice from 1921 to 1924.

HEAD OF HOSPITALS CLUB TAKES STAND AS DEFENCE OPENS

In connection with the club's articles, he explained that Mr. Williams, Mr. Braden and himself were empowered to spend such funds as were necessary for the operating expenses of the club. The articles were signed on March 22.

USE OF RED CROSS

In the cross-examination, Mr. Harrison first questioned the accused in regard to the design of the tickets which bore a red cross on a white field. Mr. Davidson said he had helped design the ticket and the red cross idea was considered good because it was necessary for the members of the club, helping of hospitals.

Mr. Harrison—it would be sort of an advertisement to help sell the tickets?

Witness—Well, yes, I suppose it would.

Mr. Harrison—Had you any authority from the Red Cross Society to use the tickets?

Witness—I did not know the Red Cross Society had a monopoly on it.

Mr. Harrison—Do you know now?

Witness—No.

Mr. Harrison—You know there is a Red Cross Society?

Witness—Yes.

Mr. Harrison—And you had no authority to use the red cross on the tickets?

Witness—I did not think it necessary.

NOT INCORPORATED

Mr. Harrison then directed his questioning toward the formation of the club. Mr. Davidson said the organization was not incorporated. It produced minutes of one of the meetings which was held in the office of the club's lawyer.

Minutes of a further meeting at which it was decided to give a donation to the Vancouver General Hospital as well as the local hospital were not in court, but Mr. Davidson said the actual poll being for 2,815 against 1,589. There were twenty spoiled ballots, bringing the total poll to 4,424.

PICKING OF AGENTS

He stated, in reply to other questions, that he picked agents for the hospitals to receive donations.

He thought would be responsible. Mr. Davidson asked him particularly about the picking of agents for the hospitals to receive donations.

Mr. Harrison—How many tickets have been sold there?

Witness—I do not know.

Mr. Harrison—What date did your tickets go to Nelson?

Witness—I can't be certain.

Mr. Davidson went through the records of the club and finally stated that the return from Nelson had not come in up to the time the offices of the organization were raided.

Dealing was a reference made in communications between himself and L. M. Williams, the club organizer in Vancouver, about a defaulter. Mr. Davidson said he did not know the name of the person who had defaulted, but believed the club had not received 50 from him. That was the only case he would rest for the remainder of the day. By evening he had become worse and was rushed to the hospital, where he passed away from a heart attack.

With his brother Mr. Carlyle was head of one of the largest milk businesses of western Canada. He enjoyed a great name for fair dealing among the livestock and dairy communities in Alberta. A year ago he had been in the city of Nelson, where he was taking a great personal interest in the installation of plant and the commencement of operations here. He had been in comparatively good health, and his sudden death came as a great shock to his friends. Yesterday he attended the luncheon at the Hotel Vancouver where Hon. J. W. Jones delivered an address. He complained of a slight attack of indigestion, and later in the afternoon telephoned his office. He would rest for the remainder of the day. By evening he had become worse and was rushed to the hospital, where he passed away from a heart attack.

INVESTIGATE BIG EXPLOSION

Committee Tries to Find the Cause of Columbus, Ohio, Blast Which Killed Six

One Theory Is Explosives Were Placed in New State Office Building

Associated Press

Columbus, O., April 15.—The first official step in the investigation of the explosion which wrecked the interior of Ohio's new $6,000,000 state office building here and left six known dead and more than fifty injured, was taken yesterday by Governor George White to-day when he named a committee and called for an explosives expert to aid the investigation.

The explosion, late yesterday, demolished the central interior portion of the building from the basement to the eleventh floor and tore away most of one of its sides.

Workmen dug into the tons of debris to-day, searching for additional dead or injured.

SABOTAGE SUGGESTED

At first the explosion was laid to accumulated sewer gas in the basement. Later, however, officials, including T. S. Brindle, state superintendent of public works, voiced a theory high explosives were the cause, and that it was an act of sabotage.

Investigators pointed out the focal point of the explosion appeared to have been immediately beneath a room occupied by Charles Martin, superintendent of construction for Harry F. Hake of Cincinnati, the architect. Martin's duties included the handling of labor disputes, also he conceived the idea of the building.

There were 126 men at work, applying finishing touches of construction inside the building, when the structure was shattered. Great marble slabs were tossed into the air, ponderous metal doors were wrenched from their hinges and tons of concrete and twisted steel were knocked loose by the force of the blast.

The known dead were listed as follows: W. B. Ryder, fifty-five, superintendent of the Alabama Marble Company; Donald E. Chesney, forty, thirty-five, Columbus electrician; Frank Baker, Columbus plumber; and C. P. Carter, about thirty, of Nashville, Tenn.

J. W. CARLYLE OF CALGARY DIES

Prominent Figure of Dairy Industry Succumbs in Vancouver

Canadian Press

Vancouver, April 15.—J. W. Carlyle, head of the Crystal Dairy in Calgary and a leading figure in the dairy business of Alberta, died suddenly in the Vancouver General Hospital early this morning.

For several months Mr. Carlyle had spent much of his time in Vancouver. He was one of the organizers of the new business of Jersey Farms Limited, and was taking a great personal interest in the installation of plant and the commencement of operations here.

Aged about sixty, Mr. Carlyle had been in comparatively good health, and his sudden death came as a great shock to his friends. Yesterday he attended the luncheon at the Hotel Vancouver where Hon. J. Asks Declaration German President's Decree Dissolving Storm Troops Ultra Vires

Berlin, April 15.—Adolf Hitler today announced he would retain the best lawyers he could find to contest the legality of the emergency decree dissolving his party's storm troops.

He also would sue, he said, to obtain redress for property seized and personal liberty violated in raids on the storm troops barracks.

PARADES FORBIDDEN

Danzig, Free State of Danzig, April 15.—Anticipating trouble following the dissolution of Adolf Hitler's storm troops in Germany, the Danzig Senate to-day forbade outdoor political parades and mass meetings throughout the Free State, where President von Hindenburg's decree does not apply.

The Nazi district leader urged his followers to behave themselves "lest our enemies secure the prohibition of our only division left in Germany speaking territory." He reminded them their goal was to "keep Danzig German until the Nazi movement triumphs."

DANZIG DEMAND

Warsaw, April 15.—The government was urged to-day to demand that the Danzig Senate dissolve the National Socialist storm troops to prevent the use of the Free State as a refuge for those elements which Germany does not want.

FINANCE PRESSURE FORCES HISTORIC GOLF CLUBS TO BREAK ANTI-WOMAN RULE

London—Women's long-sought emancipation in golf clubs is thriving as a result of financial pressure.

Now some of the most noted of those clubs deeply pledged to the principle of male membership are toying with the idea of bringing in the women folk who have been sighing on their thresholds for some time past.

The proposal is launched by the committee of the historic Royal Wimbledon Club that 200 women members whose play must be limited to five days a week shall be elected at an entrance fee of seven guineas and an annual subscription of seven guineas.

And there is every chance that the result will be a decided victory for the fair sex, who, despite its daring, never ventured to hope that it would penetrate the Royal Wimbledon Club of all places.

There is even a tale in circulation of a general who took his daughter to walk round with him while he played being informed that such procedure could not be allowed.

Some time ago an arrangement was made by which the members of the Wimbledon Ladies' Club were permitted to play on the course for four days a week but they were prohibited from using the clubhouse. The Royal Wimbledon committee now proposes that this agreement should be terminated.

The membership, they state, has fallen to an extent which involves the loss of a £1,000 a year in revenue. The proper numbers are 600 full members and 100 five-day members. These have dropped to 519 and seventy-six respectively.

It is now proposed to receive at a composite entrance fee of £500, 200 members of the Wimbledon Ladies' Club restricted to those women who already have playing rights on the course. The idea at present is to spend the £500 in erecting a wing to the clubhouse for the use of the women members.

HERALDS OF SPRING

Can you name these early spring flowers? Upper left is a photo of Dutchman's breeches; upper right is tall wood anemone; right centre is blood-root, and below is a clump of violets.

SPRING'S flowers are blooming.

The last cold snap has disappeared, and, with the coming of April showers, may flowers are getting an early start in the woods.

Home gardeners have long attempted to transplant woods and field flowers in their backyard plots, but have been more disappointed than successful. One main reason is that wild flowers, tender species of wild places, must have as near their original surroundings as possible to succeed.

In transplanting them, dig up a good section of earth along with the plants.

Carry this earth with the plant, taking care not to loosen it, to the spot you want to set it in your back yard.

Least mould should be spread thoroughly around the plant, and the ground should be kept well moist at all times. If the plant was found in a shady spot in the woods, try to set it in shade at home.

Some of the early spring flowers which may be found growing in the woods near your home are: Violets, crocuses, Dutchman's breeches, blood-root, anemones, daffodils and some wild geraniums.

TRAINING THE BABY

Proper Habits Often May Be Developed Within First Six Months

By MORRIS FISHBEN

If there is one point more than any other which gives the new mother concern, it is the training of the child in proper habits so far as concerns the excretions of the human body. One of the supervisors for the Infant Welfare Society of Chicago has recently developed a series of directions for this purpose which are practical and sound.

Most babies can learn such control within the first two years of life. Many will learn within six months. If the baby fails to learn by the end of the third year or, if the baby once trained, relapses to infantile habits, it requires special medical study and perhaps psychological examination to find out just what is wrong.

The directions for the control of the bowels follow:

Observe the time at which the baby usually soils his diaper. At that hour the next day place a small vessel in the lap and hold the baby on that, letting him lie against the left arm.

B.C. Electric Railway Presents Bill to Winner of Damage Suit

A protest against being required to pay three-fourths of the legal costs of the British Columbia Electric Railway Company Limited, defendants in a recent action by Mrs. Margaret Lane for damages, was made by E. C. Mayers, K.C., this morning before Mr. Justice Denis Murphy in Supreme Court chambers.

Mr. Mayers said his client won an award of $250. The jury had assessed the damages at $1,000, but held Mrs. Lane responsible for 75 per cent of the negligence which caused a collision last October. As there was no cross award to the company, he claimed they had no right to have any part of their expenses refunded. "The court has no right to give away my client's money," Mr. Mayers argued.

H. G. S. Heisterman said the costs should go with the verdict. The action was for damages due to negligence and the jury had found Mrs. Lane chiefly responsible.

His Lordship said a similar matter was before the Court of Appeal and

WOMAN CATCHES STEAMER IN GULF

Missed Princess Charlotte This Morning in Vancouver But Was Put Aboard From Speed Launch Off English Bay.

Phases have been commissioned in a hurry to permit belated travelers to catch boats between ports and speedy automobile rides have been common when passengers have missed trains in this whirlwind stage, but Canadian Pacific officials adopted yet another novel course to aid a Victoria-bound passenger to-day.

Missing the steamer Princess Charlotte, which sailed from Vancouver at 10:30 o'clock this morning for Victoria by ten minutes, a woman, who said she had been summoned to this city by a matter of life and death, was bundled into a fleet motor boat and caught the coastwise steamer off English Bay.

In the meantime a radio message was flashed to the Princess Charlotte and her crew was standing by to take the passenger aboard when the launch pulled alongside.

The Princess Charlotte reached here at 3 o'clock this afternoon.

Plectral Orchestra Reveals Potentialities in Shrine Temple Performance

"Oak Bay Avenue March," By Local Composer, Given Inaugural Public Playing

Oak Bay's recently organized Plectral Orchestra made its first public concert appearance at the Shrine Auditorium yesterday evening revealing itself as an organization with considerable potentialities, musically.

Under Director Percy Scott the well-balanced orchestra has already developed a smoothness and mellowness that give promise of big things from it when it enters its major programme of activities next spring.

Of the star soloists of the evening, Miss Dorothy Routledge displayed grace and technique in her banjo solo, "Sea Isle March," and her encore, "Roses and Waltz."

Georgina Watt showed her usual artistry in her singing of "Lungi dal Caro Bene." Reginald Cooper was the melodious "cello soloist of the evening, his "Berceuse From Jocelyn" receiving much applause.

Six pupils of Miss Violet Powkes were the programme by introducing a brilliant Spanish dance, and finally Gladys Harrison gave a toe dance.

Featured on the full orchestra programme was the stirring new "Oak Bay Avenue March," in swinging six-eight military time. This has been composed by Mr. Scott himself and yesterday evening this work was given its first public performance. It was greeted enthusiastically by the audience.

Other full orchestra numbers included: Offenbach's "Tales of Hoffman," "Swedish Fest March," Greenop's "Saville March," Schytte's "Berceuse," "Sault d'Amour," Elgar's "Morceau Mignon" and Wagner's "Under the Double Eagle." An especially brilliant number was the "Golden Gate Waltz," played by the banjo section.

The personnel of the orchestra included: First mandolin, Miss Betty Scott and Percy Scott; second mandolin, Mrs. Kent, Miss Leslie and Dennis Kent; mandola, Mrs. Fuller; guitar, Mrs. Holland; cello, Reginald Cooper; piano, Olive Heale and Mrs. Stewart; first banjo, Dorothy Routledge, W. R. Routledge; second banjo, Janet Bell.

When Ignaz Jan Paderevski, world famous pianist, composer, statesman and economist, arrived in Victoria yesterday afternoon from Vancouver, he expressed a desire to see the changes that had taken place in the city since he played here a quarter of a century ago.

Disembarking from the boat, the great virtuoso took up his quarters at the Empress Hotel and within an hour was in an automobile taking in the sights and threading his way through the garden area of the suburb.

He was interested in the site of the old Victoria Theatre on Douglas Street, now occupied by the David Spencer department store, where he played twenty-five years ago.

Connie Smythe Threatens to Break Up Toronto Leafs Next Year

Manager of World Hockey Champions Wants Speed and More Speed

John Roach Appears Latest Victim of New York Hockey Public

World Amateur Baseball Tournament To Be Held for First Time

SINCE winning the coveted Stanley Cup, emblematic of the world pro hockey championship, Connie Smythe, manager of the Toronto Maple Leafs, has announced a drastic move. He is not going to keep any players over thirty years of age, except perhaps Happy Day, Smythe, a stout dissembler against the three forward line idea last season, who thought eleven good men sufficient to stagger through a forty-four game season as it was last year, and ensuing play-offs, saw a great light this season. It only came after Dick Irvin arrived to take over the coaching duties of the Leafs from Art Duncan. Irvin it was who suggested that he could whip three lines into shape out of the available material. Now Smythe has been converted and also intends to have only young players on the roster of the Leafs.

It is now his contention that the public wants young free-footed fellows. In fact the spectacle of the championship team being almost dismantled next year may be seen. Connie has come to regard Irvin as a genius. His quick action has resulted in his listening to the cry for speed, and more speed. It is an open secret that he wants to let go Blair, Barrag, Cotton, possibly Levisky, and maybe Clancy and Bailey. If he succeeds Leafs' fans will be almost as quick as it became a fact. Smythe has had exceptional success going along the principle that the public knows, likes and as the hockey public is showing signs of interest in youth and speed, he is out to see that the public gets what it wants. No doubt when it comes to the showman he will keep enough of the veterans on the ice to give his squad balance.

Madison Square Garden, often called the graveyard of hockey goal keepers, appears to have snared another victim. The latest to fall from the ice and into the arms of the New York Rangers is John Ross Roach, goalie of the New York Americans. Roach probably is through with the Rangers. During the Stanley Cup series a rumor got around that Roach was to be released by the Gotham club, but previous to the final game in Toronto, Lester Patrick denied the rumor, but eastern critics have it that Roach is destined to play for the Rangers' line-up. Jackie Forbes was the first to be bounded out of New York, then came Joe Miller, whose spirit was broken by the severe criticism of the New York writers. Lorne Chabot was never able to show his real ability until traded to Toronto for Roach. Since being with the Leafs Chabot has proven himself one of the best net custodians in the league.

Plans have been announced for the first world international baseball championship to be held at Soldier's Stadium, Chicago, during the World Fair in 1933. It is expected that amateur teams from Canada, United States, Japan, Honolulu, Mexico and Cuba will create tremendous interest in the tournament. The journey is being staged under the management of Leslie Mann, former major league player, and college coach. The United States will be divided into sections and the champions of each section will compete in the tournament along with the clubs from other countries.

A game of chess begun ten years ago has just ended in a draw after forty moves. The time taken is believed to constitute a record. The players were H. Kaye and John Garande, natives of Slieve Donard, England, who were members of the Linthwaite (near Huddersfield) Chess Club.

They were keen rivals and well matched. Mr. Kaye went to Australia, and the two agreed to continue playing by correspondence.

The first move in their game across the seas was made in November 1921 and progress was made at the rate of about four moves a year.

The game developed into a grim struggle with Mr. Garande's final move, which was posted last Christmas, it ended in a draw.

Mr. Garande said: "It has been a fine game, and I am sure we both enjoyed it. We never lost interest in it, but perhaps we are not sorry now that it has ended."

Orwell Favorite For Epsom Derby

London, April 15.—To-day's call-over of betting odds on the Derby established W. M. G. Singer's colt, Orwell as favorite at 10 to 3. Orwell, by Gainsborough out of Golden Hair, won five times and was third once in his six starts as a two-year-old.

Miracle, unbeaten colt by Manna out of Brodick Bay, was next at 9 to 1. Violator, a hurry-on colt, was 100 to 1. Cockpen, second only to Orwell among the greatest money-winning juveniles of last season, at 18 to 1. Jivah, Rolling Rock and Loaningdale 20 to 1; Wyvern, Jackdaw, Dastur and Firdausi at 25 to 1.

The Derby will be run on June 1.

BOSTON BUYS BILLY BURCH

Veteran Centre Ice Player of New York Americans Purchased by Bruins

Boston, April 15.—The first step in the rebuilding of the Boston Bruins was made yesterday evening when the management of the National Hockey League team purchased Billy Burch, veteran centre, from the New York Americans in a straight cash transaction.

Burch, thirty-two-year-old and first-string centre for the Americans for the past seven seasons, will probably start the next hockey campaign in the Bruins' first line, unless Manager Art Ross succeeds in making more attractive deals. Ross believes the veteran has several more seasons of top grade hockey in his system.

In the event Ross manages to obtain more able centres during the off-season, Burch will be retained to coach young wingers.

DOCTORS WILL PLAY AT GOLF

B.C. and Seattle Medicos Engage in Annual Trophy Match Here on May 7

Doctors of Victoria, Vancouver, New Westminster and Seattle will gather at the Victoria Golf Club on Saturday, May 7, for their annual match to decide the holder, for the next twelve months, of the Dr. Richard W. Perry trophy, which has been in competition for the last fourteen years. Last summer Seattle medics captured the mug.

A sudden-death match, instead of the usual home-and-home series, has been decided upon this year. Dr. D. H. Houston will as usual marshal and champion the Seattle contingent of some fifty odd players. Dr. J. M. Keyes will recruit the Victoria portion of the British Columbia team, while Dr. Joe Bileau will gather the Vancouver and New Westminster representation.

A dinner will be held after the match to be followed by an international bridge match.

LOOK FORWARD TO SWIMMING

Young Tadpoles in The Times Campaign Making Great Headway; Some Paddling

"My daddy's going to give me a new swimming suit as soon as I can go to the length of the pool."

"That's nothing, mine's going to get a season ticket for me when I learn to swim."

These were fragments of conversation from the mouths of the young Times Tadpoles, now learning the elements of the stroke in the newspaper's campaign at the Crystal Gardens.

Already some of the more courageous are paddling along half way across the tank. Each class of fifty has about ten of these young adventurers who are trying themselves out in much the same way as fledglings fluttering down from their nests. Both boys and girls are getting along famously with their airplane dives and drives. In the latter youngsters line up along the end of the pool, place their feet against the wall and push off, thrusting away with the legs lustily to propel themselves forward.

Although the age limit set by the authorities in charge of the swim was from eight to twelve years, several ambitious kiddies under that have smuggled their way into the classes.

To-day, as the instructor was giving the lesson, he saw one wee tadpole whose head scarcely came above the water at the shallow end. "How old are you, sonny?" he asked.

"Six," I mean eight," chirped the lad.

SHOW ENTHUSIASM
This afternoon the last class in the second week was put through its exercises. The members showed equally as much enthusiasm as those of the other days in the week.

FINLAND OUT OF DAVIS CUP PLAY

Helsinki, Finland, April 15.—Finland decided yesterday to withdraw from the 1932 Davis Cup competition because of the illness of some of the members of the team. The default sends Hungary into the second round without playing a match. The Hungarians are scheduled to meet Ireland. Trolans in the eastern final in the second round.

FIRST STOCK CAR ENTERED

Russell Snowberger Will Pilot Hupmobile Special in Indianapolis Grind

Indianapolis, April 14.—Shades of the racing past flickered as the bricks of the Indianapolis motor speedway with the announcement of the first factory entry for the 500-mile race next month.

Four other factories are expected to announce teams in rapid succession. It was declared by speedway officials.

A formidable defence and smooth-working attack were two of the main factors in Windsor's 30 to 18 victory at the expense of Montreal Fusiliers. The winner of the round met St. John Trolans in the eastern final.

TAKE EARLY LEAD
The Alberta champions went into the lead after the first two minutes of play and continued scoring regularly until the final whistle. In the first half they obtained twenty-nine points, while Varsity scored none. Varsity played better basketball in the second half, but were again outscored 26 to 12.

Dick O'Brien, flashy right forward, was the big getter for the Alberta champions with twenty-five points, twenty-two of which he scored in the last half. Kirkham with twelve and Fairbanks with ten were the other heavy scorers for the Jacks.

Although Bob Urquhart led the Varsity scorers with ten points, Mickey McAdam and Dave Kirkbride were the most valuable players on the floor for the students.

Varsity was woefully weak around the basket, both on field shots and free throws.

Line-ups and scoring:
Raymond Union Jacks—O'Brien 25, Show 1, Kirkham 12, Fairbanks 10, Rolston 5, Kenny, Nilsson 2, Nalder. Total, 55.

University of Saskatchewan—Urquhart 10, Shaw, Matheson 3, Kirkbride 2, Edwards 2, Wyness, McAdam 2, Graham 2. Total, 21.

Officials—J. R. McKay, Saskatoon, and H. Vinay, Lethbridge.

RAYMOND AND WINDSOR LEAD

Defeat University of Saskatchewan and Montreal Fusiliers in Hoop Play-offs

Dazzling Offensive of Jacks Carries Them to 55 to 21 Win Over Varsity Five

Toronto, April 15.—Raymond Union Jacks, far western champions, and Windsor-Walkerville Alumni, Ontario titheholders, today stand a notch nearer the Canadian senior basketball crown. A pair of well-earned victories over University of Saskatchewan and Montreal Fusiliers respectively yesterday evening gave the pair commanding leads for the second games of the two-fifteen series Saturday night.

The Alberta champions secured a thirty-four-point margin for their second game in the western semi-finals by trouncing Saskatchewan Varsity 55 to 21. On their play—Union-Jacks conceded every chance of capturing the round and advancing to the western final against Winnipeg Trolans.

Glasgow Rangers Meet Kilmarnock In Final For Cup

Two Powerful Scottish Football Elevens Clash at Hampden Park To-morrow to Decide Holder of Coveted Trophy; Third Meeting in Final of Cup Will Be "Rubber" Match; Both Have Strong Half Back Lines; Great Defensive Match Expected

Glasgow, Scotland, April 15.—Following last Saturday's international soccer match at Wembley, between England and Scotland, the interest of fans will be switched here this week-end where Rangers and Kilmarnock battle for the Scottish Football Association Cup. Hampden Park, where the final of the cup series will be played, is expected to be thronged with a crowd which may mount up to 100,000. The match will be something in the nature of a rubber between the two clubs, as it will be the third time they have met in a cup final. Each have a victory to their credit, the Rangers winning in 1898 and Kilmarnock in 1929.

Rangers, who have had a brilliant career in cup football, are playing in their sixteenth final. Kilmarnock's fourth—are natural favorites to win. Their task is by no means an easy one, and nobody knows better than the Rangers themselves how fickle cup fortune can be. Kilmarnock are not intimidated by the size of their task, and take comfort from the fact they are playing as well as ever, while the Rangers are beginning to show the effects of the strain involved in trying to win both league championship and cup. Judging by their recent displays they are obviously going "stale." Rangers, however, have the better side and are anticipating a comfortable victory.

The game is expected to be a battle of defences, as both teams possess the strongest half-back lines in Scottish football, but whereas the Rangers are exponents of the classic passing style of football, Kilmarnock play dashing straight-for-the-goal cup football. The game may be a clash of styles. Neither team has indulged in any really specific training routine for the final. While no official announcement has been made of the side to be fielded, it is expected they will line up something like this:

CONACHER TO QUIT HOCKEY
"Big Train" Will Devote His Time to Wrestling; Has Great Athletic Record

Toronto, April 15.—Lionel "Big Train" Conacher, Canada's greatest all-round athlete, will not play hockey for Montreal Maroons next winter, but will devote his time to wrestling. The big fellow will make his first appearance in a professional match within the next few weeks, probably in Toronto.

Conacher, a born athlete, has for years been a star at rugby, lacrosse, boxing and hockey. He played for Pittsburgh, New York Americans and Montreal Maroons in the National Hockey League, after sterling efforts in amateur circles.

Powerful Cincinnati Club Suffers Serious Injuries

Whip Chicago Cubs But Lose Grantham And Giant Lombardi

Former Twists Ankle in Stopping Line Drive, While Lombardi Breaks Finger on Foul Tip; Reds Bunch Hits to Whip Cubs 5 to 3; Pittsburgh Pounds Der-ringer Hard to Turn Back Cards 5 to 4; St. Louis Browns and Detroit Win American League Games

Dan Howley, the sartorially-correct manager of Cincinnati Reds, already is playing in tough luck and the National League season is just three days old.

The Reds' second game of the campaign cost them the services of big Ernest Lombardi, the catcher with the rifle arm, and the massive Schnozzola, and of George Grantham, veteran second baseman, whose chief baseball virtue is his timely hitting.

Lombardi stopped a foul tip with his right index finger and the broken bone that ensued will keep him on the bench for at least ten days. Grantham twisted his ankle making a brilliant stop of a line drive and probably won't play for a week.

But even with these two cogs out of repairs, the Reds punched out a 5 to 3 decision over Chicago Cubs yesterday and made it two out of three in the series. They did it by the simple expedient of batting around in the first inning. Doubles by Wally Gilbert and Clyde Manion and triples

Yesterday's Stars In Major Baseball

Outstanding players in yesterday's major league ball games follow:

Whitlow Wyatt, Detroit Tigers—Held Cleveland Indians to four hits, fanned seven, and won 3 to 1.

Red Kress, St. Louis Browns—His homer with one on, enabled Browns to beat Chicago White Sox 3 to 1.

Larry French, Pittsburgh Pirates—Went in as relief pitcher, held St. Louis Cardinals to three hits in five innings, and won 5 to 4.

thereafter. The Pirates struggled along to tie the score in the eighth and win in the ninth.

In the American League, St. Louis Browns and Detroit Tigers broke into the winning column for the first time. Sam Gray allowed only five hits as the Browns turned back Chicago White Sox 3 to 0, the second shutout of the major league season. The Browns clinched the game in the fifth inning when Red Kress drove out a home run off Vic Frazier and scored behind Goose Goslin who had walked.

Whitlow Wyatt had the better of a pitching duel with Willis Hudlin and Detroit turned back Cleveland 3 to 0. Wyatt allowed only four hits and struck out seven. The Tigers bunched two singles with a walk and a sacrifice in the second inning for their winning margin.

Weather conditions held other American League clubs idle but Philadelphia Connie Mack, general manager of the champion Athletics, announced Roger Cramer would replace the veteran Bing Miller in the outfield. Cramer is just starting his second term with the A's. Miller at thirty-seven, has been in the majors steadily since 1921.

NATIONAL LEAGUE
Cincinnati, April 15.—A five-run first inning, aided by triples from the bats of Babe Bertrams and Mickey Heath, was too much for Chicago's Cubs to overcome yesterday and they lost to the Cincinnati Reds, 5 to 3. The Reds gathered four hits off Bob Smith's curves in that first inning. Heath's triple being his first blow of the season, but could not score thereafter.

Chicago 3 0 0
Cincinnati 5 12 1

AMERICAN LEAGUE

Cleveland 1 4 1
Detroit 3 7 0

Chicago, April 15.—Sam Gray allowed the Chicago White Sox only five hits, all singles yesterday and the St. Louis Browns captured their first victory in three games, 3 to 0. Gray was seldom in danger, and pitched to only thirty-one Sox batters. Red Kress won the game for the Browns when he blasted Vic Frazier for a home run in the fifth inning, scoring Goslin, who had walked.

GRADS SCORE EASY VICTORY

Defeat Vancouver Witches 100 to 45 in Western Canadian Basketball Final

Will Carry 55-Point Lead Into Second Game Carded Tomorrow Night

Edmonton, April 15.—Percy Page's famed Edmonton Grads, queens of the basketball world, yesterday evening took a 100 to 45 victory from the Pacific Coast girls, Vancouver Witches, to gain a fifty-five-point lead for the second game Saturday night in the women's basketball final of western Canada.

Grads were in good form for the game and ran up the even 100 points with steady shooting. The Coast girls gave the Grads one of the best battles in years, but were still far short of equalling the Canadian title-holders.

During the services of Mildred McCormick, one of the greatest sharpshooters in ladies' basketball, the Grads buckled down for a hard season, but at the end of the first quarter had a lead of 23 to 7. At the end of the first half the champions had increased their lead to 38 to 15, and from then on were out of danger.

WITCHES TRY HARD
In the third and fourth quarters, the Witches fought hard desperately trying to pare down what threatened to be an overwhelming score against them. Betty Passerini, flashy scoring threat of the Coast challengers, was effectively taken out of most of the plays by the defensive formation of the Grads.

Although facing defeat in the series, the Witches will take the floor against the Grads again Saturday night, but the task of stopping the Grads from another Dominion title will have to go to some other aggression.

Teams and individual scores:
Vancouver Witches—Jean Band 2, Jessie Richardson 2, Merle Nicholson 14, Frieda Jensen 2, Rennie, Margaret May 4, Grace Britton, Betty Passerini 23, Nettie Pronluk. Total 45.
Edmonton Grads—Margaret MacBurney 34, Elsie Renie 17, Doris Neale 10, Gladys Fry 14, Babe Belanger 19, H. Stone 4, E. Stone 2. Total 100.

Fouls called on Vancouver, 11; fouls called on Edmonton, 8.
Referee, George Farney; umpire, Russell Rennie.

COMPLAINTS ON BALL BROADCAST

Chicago, April 15.—Sports announcer, Ted Husing, barred from Harvard's football games last fall because he implied with an adjective that Crimmon's style of play was not up to snuff; to-day faced an American League investigation prompted by a complaint of two umpires.

The umpires, George Moriarty and William Dinneen, who officiated at the opening league game at Washington last Monday, voiced formal protest with league officials yesterday at Husing's description of their decisions during the game's broadcast.

President Will Harridge, of the league, commenting on the protest, said he would investigate fully and "take whatever action is necessary."

"It's a big job umpiring baseball games without someone second-guessing and then blaming the umpire for his mistakes," he added.

Both officials declared they received letters from baseball fans indicating Husing announced the base-runners safe when the "out" gesture was started, and then informed the listening audience the umpires changed their minds when he saw the runners thumbed "out."

WOULD HELP AGRICULTURE

Technical Agriculturists' Convention Here in Favor of Determined Efforts

Going on record in favor of determined efforts to raise the agricultural industry out of its present difficult position, members of the British Columbia branch of the Canadian Society of Technical Agriculturists, yesterday opened their twelfth annual two-day convention. Special efforts, it was resolved, will be devoted in the future to the general welfare of the industry.

An opening advanced by J. W. Gibson, of the education department, and endorsed by Dr. W. Newton, was to the effect that the Canadian organization, number over 1,000 members, could help the country in trying to solve the farming problem, and that some advisory body for such a purpose might justify the existence of the C.S.T.A.

This afternoon session in the Parliament Buildings covered a great deal of routine work, such as reading of reports, appointment of committees and the like. Reports were presented by the president, E. W. White, and the secretary, E. R. Hall.

WORK OF YOUTH

The work being done by the Canadian Council of Boys' and Girls' Club work was highly praised by Dr. W. R. Gunn, live stock commissioner, who represents British Columbia in this line of activity. Dr. Gunn, who was in charge of the B.C. boys who attended the first gathering for the competition in Toronto, said the visit to the east had been a fine education for the boys and he felt that such training was a Canadianizing factor of great importance.

Dr. Gunn traced the history of the movement from its inception, crediting the C.P.R. and C.N.R. for transportation given the boys when traveling to competitions. The result of the movement had been the building of a co-operative system in which the Dominion and provincial governments, the railways and other organizations participated, and now the central competition at Toronto was firmly established and proving its value.

How to Relieve Catarrhal Deafness Or Head Noises

If you have catarrh, catarrhal deafness or head noise caused by catarrh or if phlegm drops in your throat and has caused catarrh of the stomach or bowels, you will be glad to know that these distressing symptoms may be entirely overcome in many instances by the following treatment which you can easily prepare in your own home at little cost. Secure from your druggist a 1 oz. bottle of Parmit (Double Strength). Take this home and add to it ¼ pint of hot water and a little sugar; stir until dissolved. Take one tablespoonful four times a day. An improvement is sometimes noted after the first day's treatment. Breathing should become easy, while the distressing head noises, headaches, dizziness, cloudy thinking, etc., should gradually disappear under the tonic action of the treatment. Loss of smell, taste, defective hearing and mucous dripping in the back of the throat are other symptoms which suggest the presence of catarrh and which may often be overcome by this efficacious treatment. If nearly ninety per cent of all ear troubles are caused by catarrh, there must be many people whose hearing is restored by this simple home treatment. (Adv.)

TELLS M.P.'S OF FARMERS' NEEDS

M. Luchkovich, Alberta Member, Says Prices Must Be Improved

Ottawa, April 15.—Michael Luchkovich, U.F.A. member for Vegreville, sharing in the budget debate in the Commons yesterday evening, briefly reviewed world conditions. He said it would be like trying to make an omelette without breaking eggs to expect peace without the necessary underlying conditions, and to bring prosperity without cultivating the arts of peace.

Mr. Luchkovich recalled to the House his visit to northern and southwestern Europe last summer. The people there had derived no lesson from the Great War. He hoped Canada might become a beacon light to guide the nations into the channels of peace.

GRAIN MARKET

Grain and grain products were the largest item in Canada's exports, Mr. Luchkovich reminded the House. For grain and grain products Canada must have a foreign market, Canadian primary producers were absolutely dependent on foreign markets. He warned the House that prairie farmers could not continue indefinitely to sell their products under the cost of production. Unless something was done for them, there was danger the prairie farmers would sink into insolvency, and when a primary industry failed it meant injury to other industries in Canada.

The tariff was important, but Mr. Luchkovich felt it was an international and world question, rather than something which could be dealt with by Canada alone. He referred to the serious conditions which he had observed in Europe. In the cities and towns he had seen abject poverty, and many of the countries appeared to be over-run with soldiers. He contrasted conditions in Canada, and said he had felt glad to be in a country where such a armed force was unnecessary. The countries of Europe, he declared, were afraid to disarm because they did not trust their neighbors. After dealing with the repression of minorities in certain of the European countries, Mr. Luchkovich expressed the view that, unless conditions improved in Europe, there was hardly likely to be much improvement in Canada.

SHIP ROW LIGHT ONE

Light on Dock at Trinidad That Brought Crew From Warship Was Not Serious

Vancouver, April 15.—"Nothing but a couple of black eyes, maybe, something that might happen in any port," declared the captain of the motorship St. John's yesterday in making light of the row which occurred on March 22 between his crew and longshoremen at St. John's, Trinidad.

A party from the Canadian destroyer Chaplain took part in quelling the trouble. The Danish ship was loading sugar at the West Indian port for the British Columbia Sugar Refining Company, the captain related, when one of the colored hook-and-knife men of the shore gang demanded bread from the Danish cook. That was at 7 p.m. The latter refused. The hook-and-knife man gave the cook a black eye, and he took the bread and went away.

Shore authorities, fearing a general outbreak of war between the viking Scandinavians and the shore-party, called upon the destroyer Chaplain. The ship turned her searchlight on the flustered men on the St. John's deck and sent a boarding crew away.

The master of the St. John's said peace had been restored before the boarding party arrived. "It was much made out of little," he said.

Send Wheat Lower

Canadian Press
Winnipeg, April 15.—Promises of rain over parched domestic winter wheat fields in the United States prompted traders to pause for profit-to-day and wheat declined an even cent in all three futures to-day.

May closed at 64 1/2, July at 66 and October at 68 1/2. A disappointing export trade and easier quotations at Liverpool also contributed to the easier feeling here.

Influence with traders of the moisture conditions of the United States wheat belt was clearly indicated. Prices went lower in the early part of the session when it was reported rain had fallen in some sections. When authentic reports were received that the downpour was slight traders rushed to the buying side of the market and values came back.

Fluctuation lessened in the last hour and prices stood down from the high points. Indications pointed to a light overnight export business in Canada wheat, most from Vancouver.

Cash wheat spreads improved about 1/2 cent in slow trading. Coarse grains prices moved within a narrow range.

To-day's Grain Markets

WINNIPEG

(By Logan & Bryan)

Winnipeg, April 15.—Wheat was nervous and erratic to-day with prices holding within a range of about 1/4 cent. The market was quiet with few trades. Early prices broke 1 cent, all of which was recovered, but the market again slid off to make a new low.

The first storm was due to reports of dust storms in southern Saskatchewan and other areas, and the later selling was due to reports of rain in Texas and Kansas. The wheat market was to the effect that the rains reported were only light showers and there were indications of clearing. It has been felt right along that rains would cause a selling off in the market but with all the pressure and there was considerable selling here by Chicago houses, the market only dipped fractionally into the daily bids.

There was very little export business out of this market and only a small business was reflected, but the Alberta pool reported 500,000 bushels worth through Vancouver. It was difficult to locate the local support, but local and commission houses were buying on the breaks in a moderate way while there was buying against the daily bids, the latter appearing to be the main support.

The local demand for cash wheat continued very quiet, and practically nothing was changing outside of an odd car. Spreads were most unchanged except No. 1 northern, which was 1/4 better, holders endeavoring to get this grade higher. Australian shipments, this week are 2,144,000, which is 1,000,000 more than last week. Argentina cleared 4,526,000 bushels. Country marketings in the west Thursday were 195,000 bushels vs. 310,000 a year ago.

Winnipeg closed practically on the bottom or 1 cent lower.

Coarse grains: These markets held very steady considering the decline in wheat and the fact that there was no business worth mentioning going on. There was no export business. Offerings were light, no selling pressure while the undertone is firm.

Oats closed 1/4 higher to 1/2 lower, barley 3/4 to 1/2 lower, and 1/4 to 1/2 lower. Flax 1/2 to 1/4 unchanged. Liverpool 1/2 to 1/4 lower on Winnipeg.

Are Wives
Entitled to Soft Talk?

Thinks
Husbands
Should Supply
Romance

Husband:—Why Not Show Your Wife a Little of The Affection You Feel for Her?—It Would Be Peace in Your Home, Happiness in Your Heart, And Money in Your Pocket if You Did, for It Is Love That Makes the World Go Round for Women

GET innumerable letters from women complaining that their marriages are failures because their husbands do not show them any tenderness or affection. They are married to men who have all the cardinal virtues of matrimony, but they possess none of the "aces." They are sober, honest, faithful, but they are not lovers. They are, in the phrase—good providers, so far as food and clothes go, but they provide nothing for their wives' souls.

Some women can get along comfortably enough on their plain roast-beef-and-potato diet. Others starve on it. Here are women who hunger and thirst for romance and sentiment and their husbands fail to give it to them. It is a cruel, cruel fate. It is to them, as it is to the millions of women who master how many strings of pearls, Paris frocks or limousines is common.

The fact that men usually drop their love-making at the altar while women go on feeling like brides until they are ninety is at the bottom of half of the domestic discord. It is the wives, asking their husbands for bread and being given stones who fill the air with their lamentations. And it is the husbands who can't understand why their wives are not satisfied with the nice, shiny, three-karat rocks they bestow upon them who read the atmosphere with their curses at women's unreasonableness.

The American man is the best husband in the world, but he is a poor performer in sentimental roles. Even in his courting days he makes love by the ardent, and he hurries up the engagement and makes it brief and snappy so as to be done with it. He always feels a fool when he is quoting poetry and uttering impassioned speeches, and after marriage he says it with beef-steaks and charge accounts and slaving in an office so the wife can go off to Europe in the summer and to Palm Beach in the winter.

And if that isn't a proof of love that ought to satisfy any woman without the necessity of his telling her how he feels about her and giving her compliments, why, he thinks there is something wrong in her upper story and she should see an alienist about it. Perhaps he is right, and there is something wrong with women's mentality that requires them to be constantly assured of their husbands' affection for them and that makes them value a few soft words more than a lot of hard work, but there it is. That is the way Nature made them. And they can't help it, poor things.

Of course, there is something both grotesque and pathetic in a fat, middle-aged woman with a house full of children craving romance and eating out her heart in disappointment because her prosaic husband, with his mind concentrated on making a living for the family, doesn't kiss her as the movie hero does the beautiful heroine in the fadeout in "Hearts Aflame" or some other orch drama.

Yet there are thousands upon thousands of otherwise sensible women, with good husbands and good homes and all the material for happiness in their hands, who throw them all away because of this morbid craving for romance. They are blind to all the good qualities of their husbands because they are not Romeo and badger the unfortunate creatures to death demanding the impossible of them.

Also, only too often these romantic ladies wreck their lives by leaving perfectly good homes and husbands to go in search of the sentimental adventures that they feel wait for them down the road somewhere. But, alas, there are few Fairy Princes who feel called upon to assuage the heart-hunger of grass widows with broods of young ones, and after marriage they likewise are more prone to knock their wives' cooking than praise their eyes.

What to do about such a situation? One might tell the woman who pines for a show of affection from her husband that all marriage is a series of compromises, and if she is married to a man who works his fingers to the bone to make her comfortable she might well overlook his not holding her hand in the moonlight, much as she would enjoy that experience.

One might tell her, too, that after forty every woman has to take her romance vicariously, and that is the reason why every cinema is crowded with middle-aged women and why novels with red-hot love themes are best sellers. We may still have as much of a yen for romance as we did at eighteen, but if we do it is just too bad, for it has passed us by and it will never come back our way any more. All the white lilies on which we feed our souls we must buy for ourselves. And the wise thing is just to accept the situation and to quit beating yourself up against a stone wall that you never can break down.

And one might say to men, that women cannot live on bread alone, so why not give them a little of the angel's food they crave? Why not show your wives a little of the affection you feel for them? Why not pay them a few of the attentions that mean so much to them? Why not give them an occasional kiss that is warm with passion instead of flavored with ham and eggs?

It would be peace in your home, happiness in your heart and money in your pocket if you did. For it is love that makes the world go round for women.

A Camel Driver Who Rose to Fame

Not far from the coast of the Red Sea is the holy city of Mecca. Millions of men and women turn their faces toward that city each day, and murmur a prayer.

Mohammed often passed over the Arabian desert.

Thirteen hundred years ago, a man named Mohammed lived in Mecca. As a young man he had often passed over the Arabian desert, driving loaded camels in a caravan.

As a camel driver, Mohammed had visited fairs in Arabia and Syria. It is likely that he visited Persia as well. The world would know little about Mohammed if he had remained a camel driver; but that was not to be his destiny. During his travels, he talked with Jews, Christians, and fire-worshippers. We may be sure that he thought many things during his long journeys over the desert.

One subject Mohammed thought about was religion. His friends and relatives in Mecca prayed to many gods, but he felt that they ought to pray to one single deity. In the course of time he called this deity Allah.

It was not until he was forty years old that Mohammed began to preach. Then he declared:

"There is only one lord, Allah, and I am his prophet. We should not pray to many gods—we should pray only to Allah. Moses and Christ were great prophets, but I am greater than they."

Mohammed gained believers, but he made enemies as well. These enemies were angered because he had talked against their gods. Mohammed found life unpleasant at Mecca, and decided to leave the city. He fled to the town of Yatrib.

At Yatrib the citizens joined Mohammed in large numbers, and soon the former camel driver was at the head of a strong religious movement. The words of the leader were put down in writing by his followers, and a book was made called the Koran. The name of Yatrib was changed to Medina, meaning "City of the Prophet." Before his death at the age of sixty-three, Mohammed saw faith in his views spread to many parts of Arabia.

Mohammedans look upon the Koran in the same way Christians look upon the Bible.

AUSTRALIA'S REVENUE FALLS

Canadian Press
Melbourne, Australia, April 15.—Since the adoption of the national economy plan by the conference of premiers last year the national revenue has fallen by twenty per cent. Professors Giblin and Melville, members of the committee of experts which drew up a report on unemployment, to-day told the conference of premiers.

Regarding the committee's recommendation to increase the rate of exchange, the professors submitted the increase should be about ten per cent.

SEES BIG TRADE OPPORTUNITIES

B.C. Urged to Prepare For Renewed Commerce With Great Britain

Taking the view that world conditions will start on the up-trend at the end of this year, F. A. Pauline, former Agent-General for British Columbia in London, urged British Columbians to be ready to take advantage of renewed trade opportunities with Great Britain, in an address before the Cathedral Men's Guild at the Memorial Hall yesterday evening.

This could be achieved by maintaining a continuity of supply of commodities, by keeping the quality up and offering a fair price. If the supply could not be maintained by the individual, it should be kept up by co-operative action by industries of the Dominion, he said.

His confidence in the improvement of conditions in the near future was voiced by Mr. Pauline.

"The world is passing through its darkest hour in history, but we can see factors at work to-day that give us encouragement to look hopefully to the future and the return of better conditions," he said, adding, "The close of the present year will, I believe, see the world crisis over."

The value of British Columbia House in London was outlined by the speaker. People who wished to see that institution sold and the proceeds used for cold storage plants to store apples did not know what they were talking about, he said.

B.C. HOUSE VALUABLE

In his opinion British Columbia House was one of the best investments ever made by the province. Its advertising value was tremendous. Hundreds of families had been sent out to British Columbia through the efforts of the staff at the institution, he declared, saying they represented $20,000,000.

Mr. Pauline also gave accounts of some of the interesting experiences he had passed through during his six years in London. He mentioned the fact that the Wembley Exhibition had been a big factor in recapturing much of the trade that had been lost in the Great War. He touched upon the strike in the trades unions, and the illness of the monarch as well as the loyalty of the people to the latter.

Very Rev. C. S. Quinlan, Dean of Columbia, moved a vote of thanks to the speaker.

Fish Scooped Out Of Inlet

Herring Run in Saanich Arm So Phenomenal That Garden Rakes and Shovels Replace Fishing Tackle; Indian Legend of Alternate Famine and Feast Is Described by "Rebel" Mowat.

Raking fish out of the water, astounding as it may seem, is actually taking place in Saanich Inlet and at other immediate points along the coast, so great has been the run of herring.

"Rebel" Mowat of the Gray Line fishermen's syndicate, came back from Brentwood on Wednesday with the amazing story that fish were being scooped out of the coves and stored in gunny sacks by Indians and other residents.

The herring run is so heavy that the fighting salmon, usually associated with Saanich waters, has temporarily been displaced.

"Rebel," with Wally Owens and Gyp Coulter, spent the afternoon in Finlayson Arm fishing with steel rods and returning with a thirty-five-pound salmon and nine grise. The party was unable to concentrate on salmon because the bay was cluttered up with the herring. The crush was so great, "Rebel" says, that it was difficult to navigate the boat.

The herring run at Brentwood is the talk of the whole district. Garden rakes, shovels, scoops, with very rare intervals of phenomenal runs designed to surfeit the natives of their staple diet.

A grizzled native of indeterminate age happened along at the height of the recent herring run and, crouching on his haunches, related to "Rebel" the details of this ancient legendary curse.

The final figures of the 1931 census of population show British Columbia with a gain of 32 per cent in the last decade, Alberta with a gain of 24 per cent and Quebec and Saskatchewan, each with over 21 per cent against the increase of 18 per cent for Canada as a whole.

Plant Experts Control Rust

Hollyhocks Can Be Freed From Chocolate Colored Rust, Saanichton States.

Chocolate colored rust on hollyhocks can be controlled, although few gardeners on Vancouver Island and the lower mainland have hitherto succeeded in keeping their hollyhocks free from the disease, the Dominion Laboratory of Plant Pathology at Saanichton reports. The disease is more disastrous in the coast regions of British Columbia than in the interior or in the east. The seriousness of the disease around Victoria and Vancouver may be accounted for by the mildness of the winter climate. In the interior and in the east the frost destroys the majority of the disease spores, but here great numbers survive and germinate early in the spring to infect the new growth. In 1931 the disease was evident before the end of February, and this year a number of infected plants were found before the end of March.

The disease may be recognized by the raised chocolate colored spore masses on the lower side of the leaves. On the upper leaf surfaces brown spots are the only conspicuous symptoms. These brown areas gradually enlarge and merge until the whole leaf is killed. It is the lower leaves that first become infected and are the first to die. The mature spores in the chocolate colored masses appear to be capable of germinating at any time of the year to form the secondary spores that infect healthy plants, providing weather conditions are favorable. When the spores germinate the chocolate masses take on a greenish white appearance. Our experiments in the control of hollyhock rust prove that a coating of spray prevents the germination of a considerable proportion of the spores; hence, if the gardener will spray at intervals of a week or ten days, the spread of the disease will be checked. A 1 per cent solution of the K8-resin spray or Bordeaux mixture is effective for this purpose in the protection of the clean plants and plant parts. Bordeaux is recommended only while the plants are small, owing to its unattractive appearance on the foliage. The leaves killed by the rust 1 millions of spores hence they should be pulled off and burned as soon as possible. A general fall clean-up always desirable. Unless seed is sown the whole plants should be pulled off and burned. After so doing, it is well to disinfect the ground around the plants by soaking with a 2 per cent copper sulphate solution. Owing to the large numbers of spores produced by this disease, it sprays very rapidly from infected to healthy plants. Many gardeners find that it pays to plant clean seed or seedlings. The one-year-old plants main reasonably clean if they are sprayed occasionally with a 1 per cent solution of K8-resin spray unless they are planted close to old, badly diseased plants.
